Champion lamb brings $700 cwt.

The Junior Fair market lamb sale established some new records Thursday night at the 1975 Fayette County Fair.

Cindi Grover's lamb, named "Long Ears", was the first to be sold and it went for $700 cwt., or $7 a pound. That, however, was not a record, as it failed to surpass the price of $860 cwt. paid a year ago.

Doug Johnson's reserve champion, weighing in at 100 pounds, sold for $335 cwt. This, also, was off last year's record-setting pace of $700 cwt.

Tom McNew of Pure Plaza, U.S. 35 and I-71, purchased the 115-pound grand champion for a total price of $805 and Johnson's reserve lamb went to First Federal Savings and Loan Association for $335.

The 48-pound champion carcass, exhibited by Dean Stockwell, was sold by auctioneer Merlin Woodruff of Urbana for a whopping $1050 cwt. to Kaufman's Bargain Store for a total of $504. The $1,050 cwt. shattered the previous record for a champion carcass.

The grand champion pen of three market lambs, also exhibited by Cindi Grover, were sold individually. One in pen was the grand champion and the other two sold for record prices. Antoinette's Beauty Salon purchased one for $235 cwt. and Landmark bought the other one for $225 cwt.

The 85-pound first place lamb in the 85 pound and under class, shown by Debbie Highfield, was sold for a record $185 cwt. to Carroll Halliday, Inc.

Gary Conn's 90-pound lamb, which took first placing in the 90-95 pound division, brought another record price of $175 cwt. Ora Burdge of New Holland Enterprises was the successful bidder.

Another record was shattered in the 110-pounds and over class. The lamb which took first place in that division, exhibited by Betsy Hartman, was purchased by Krieger Equipment Co. for $160 cwt.

The 120-pound runnerup lamb in the 110-pound and over class, shown by Jay Bloomer, brought $130 cwt. from Willis Insurance.

All the second-place lambs set new record prices.

The other second place lambs were exhibited by John and Lisa Melvin. They were purchased by Roller Haven for $125 cwt. and Greenline Equipment Co. for $150 cwt.

There were 227 lambs sold, not including the grand champion carcass, covering approximately 11 tons of mutton on the hoof. The average price for the lambs was $96.34 cwt. edging the record of $96 cwt. or $96 per pound. There were 142 single lambs sold Thursday night averaging $122 cwt. or $1.22 a pound.

Results of the entire market lamb sale will be carried in Saturday's edition of the Record-Herald.

Lamb sale, tractor pull attract 4,504 persons

County fair approaching end of week-long run

By MARK REA

Almost every record that was ever established at a Fayette County Fair market lamb sale in the Junior Fair division was broken as the Fair approached the end of its week-long run.

Ironically, the only two top lambs who did not bring record prices were the grand champion and the reserve grand champion.

Cindi Grover's grand champion lamb sold for $700 cwt., behind the record set just last year at $860 cwt.

Tom McNew, of Pure Plaza Restaurant, purchased the 115 pound lamb to kickoff the lamb sale in the sales arena.

The reserve champion, raised by Doug Johnson, also fell short of a record price. First Federal Savings and Loan Association paid $335 cwt. for the second best lamb in the show. Last year, the reserve champ sold for $700 cwt.

In front of the grandstand, people came from miles away to witness the second annual tractor pull at the Fair. Five winners were to be announced in five different divisions. As with evident with the large crowd, the tractor pull was, again, a huge success.

Aside from the high humidity, the Fair's weather has been ideal for the first five days, but the rain may still make an appearance. The good weather, coupled with the tractor pull and the lamb sale, lured 4,504 people through the gates after 4 p.m. This places the Fair's attendance at 15,365 for 1975.

A total of 228 sheep were sold at the second of three market livestock auctions bringing an average of over $96 cwt., edging last year's record-setting average.

Beth Jenks continued to clean house in the Junior Fair livestock shows. Two days ago, her Hamp-Duroc cross barrow was named grand champion of the hog show. Thursday, she added the grand champion steer trophy to her growing collection with her European crossbred calf. It will be the first sold at auction at 6 p.m. Friday in the final livestock auction. Merlin Woodruff of Urbana, will once again be the auctioneer.

The Posey Garden Club won the sweepstakes in the flower arranging show judged Thursday afternoon. The

Elevator operators say about wheat sale

'It's about time'

BY GEORGE MALEK

While opinions on the sale of several million tons of wheat to the Soviet Union vary greatly throughout the country, elevator operators in Fayette County are saying in a single voice, "It's about time."

While the critics claim that the sale of more than five million tons of wheat to Russia has nearly doubled the wholesale price of the grain, local operators say that that is just enough for the farmer to make a decent living.

"The whole thing has been blown way out of proportion because farmers are a minority group," said Ottie Hockman of the Hockman Grain Co., Bloomingburg. "He says it boils down to the fact that more people buy wheat than grow it. The general public sees any increase as bad, but that just isn't so," Hockman added.

With the U.S. crop so much larger this year than last, the price per bushel was down in the $2.60, to $2.70 range at the end of June. "That was $1.50 lower than last year, and much too low for the farmer to realize any profit," he said. With the cost of seed and fertilizer where they are, $2.60 barely covered the costs of growing the wheat, Hockman explained.

He went on to say that all the headlines concerning the grain deal stem from the "game of politics." Hockman cited an article in the Wall Street Journal which quoted James V. Stanton, Democratic representative to the U.S. Congress from Cleveland, as labeling the sale as the "Great Grain Robbery, Part II." "That is just a political maneuver to add votes in his district," Hockman cautioned.

He said most Cleveland residents are much more interested in the price of bread than whether or not the farmer feeds his family.

On a national level, Hockman pointed out that the sales help lower the American balance of trade which is vital to the U.S. position in the world market. "We have to export something to balance all that we import, "and the price of that commodity will rise," Hockman said.

He was not only glad to see the wheat exported, but added that America had better export some corn pretty soon. "Corn is headed toward the $1.50 level, and unless that price is upped, the farmer will really be stung," he concluded.

Clarence Cooper, manager of the Landmark elevator operation in Washington C. H., echoed the same sentiments. He felt the 3.5 million tons of wheat sold by Cook Industries Inc., of Memphis, Tenn., and the 1.2 million tons sold by Cargill Inc., of Minneapolis, Minn., were largely American surplus which had been driving down the price of wheat. The amount of wheat brought to the elevator this year by Fayette County

EPA chief sees more hikes

Consumer electricity costs rise 30 per cent in year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price Americans paid for electricity jumped 30 per cent last year due primarily to higher fuel costs, according to a report from the Environmental Protection Agency.

The EPA authorized the study to determine how much of an effect antipollution measures were having on electricity costs, and reported these only accounted for 5 per cent of the increase.

However, EPA Administrator Russell E. Train noted that "increases attributable to environmental regulations may increase over the next five years as the utilities phase in capital expenditures for pollution control."

The report, released Thursday, said that "1974 saw an unprecedented increase in the cost of electricity." It estimated that total revenues of the electric industry totaled $40 billion during the year, an increase of $9 billion over 1973.

Thus, for the average American, the price of one kilowatt hour of electricity rose from 1.97 cents to 2.57 cents, the study said.

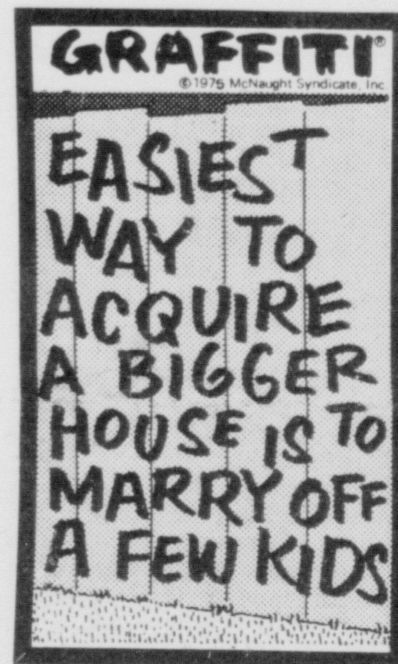

The report said that on average electricity rates increased 23 per cent for residential customers and 33 per cent for commercial and industrial users of electricity to make the average 30 per cent.

"Consumers along both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts were the most seriously affected by the higher rates, the report said. And "New England and the Middle Atlantic regions, which historically have had the highest electric rates, also had the highest rates of increase during the last year."

The report said fuel prices accounted for 60 per cent of the higher electricity costs. Nonfuel electricity costs increased only 16.8 per cent during the year, with the largest factor in this category the rising interest rates on borrowed money, the report said.

Fuel-switching from high sulfur to low sulfur coal and oil, and coal-to-oil and coal-to-gas conversions of generating plants accounted for only 2.5 per cent of the higher costs, the report said. In addition, the report estimated that about 8 per cent of utilities' capital expenditures were attributable to environmental factors.

The report was prepared for EPA by the independent research firm of Temple, Barker and Sloane, Inc.

Coffee Break . .

WE'VE ALL HEARD the expression about spectators in some sporting events "being in the dark" about decisions that are sometimes made on the playing field.

That was the case at the Junior Fair dog show Thursday night when not only the spectators but all the judges and the contestants were "in the dark" due to the absence of lights in the Junior Fair activities tent. . . The lights were for some reason removed earlier Thursday and the final stages of the dog show were held under near dark conditions, making both judging and showing much more difficult. . . A similar problem also plagued the dog show last year. . . Although not one of the more "glamorous" fair events, the youngsters who worked many hours training their dogs for this event at least deserve proper conditions to display their dog's talents.

We wonder what would happen if a beef or hog show would have to be conducted under these conditions. . .

THE LAST session of swimming classes at the Washington Park Association pool, 110 W. Oakland Ave., will begin Monday, July 28, according to pool manager Bob Bane.

Registration can be completed when the classes start. . . The lessons will last four weeks (Monday through Friday) and each class period will be 30 minutes in length. . . The classes will end Aug. 22.

Pre-school children cannot be accepted for lessons. . . Three classes have been added to the previous schedule of lessons.

Life saving classes will end Saturday and the pool season will close on Labor Day, Sept. 1, according to Bane. . .

Ulcer calmed by $300,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— One of the things David V. Morgan can look forward to after having won the Ohio Lottery's $300,000 prize Thursday night is less ice cream and milk.

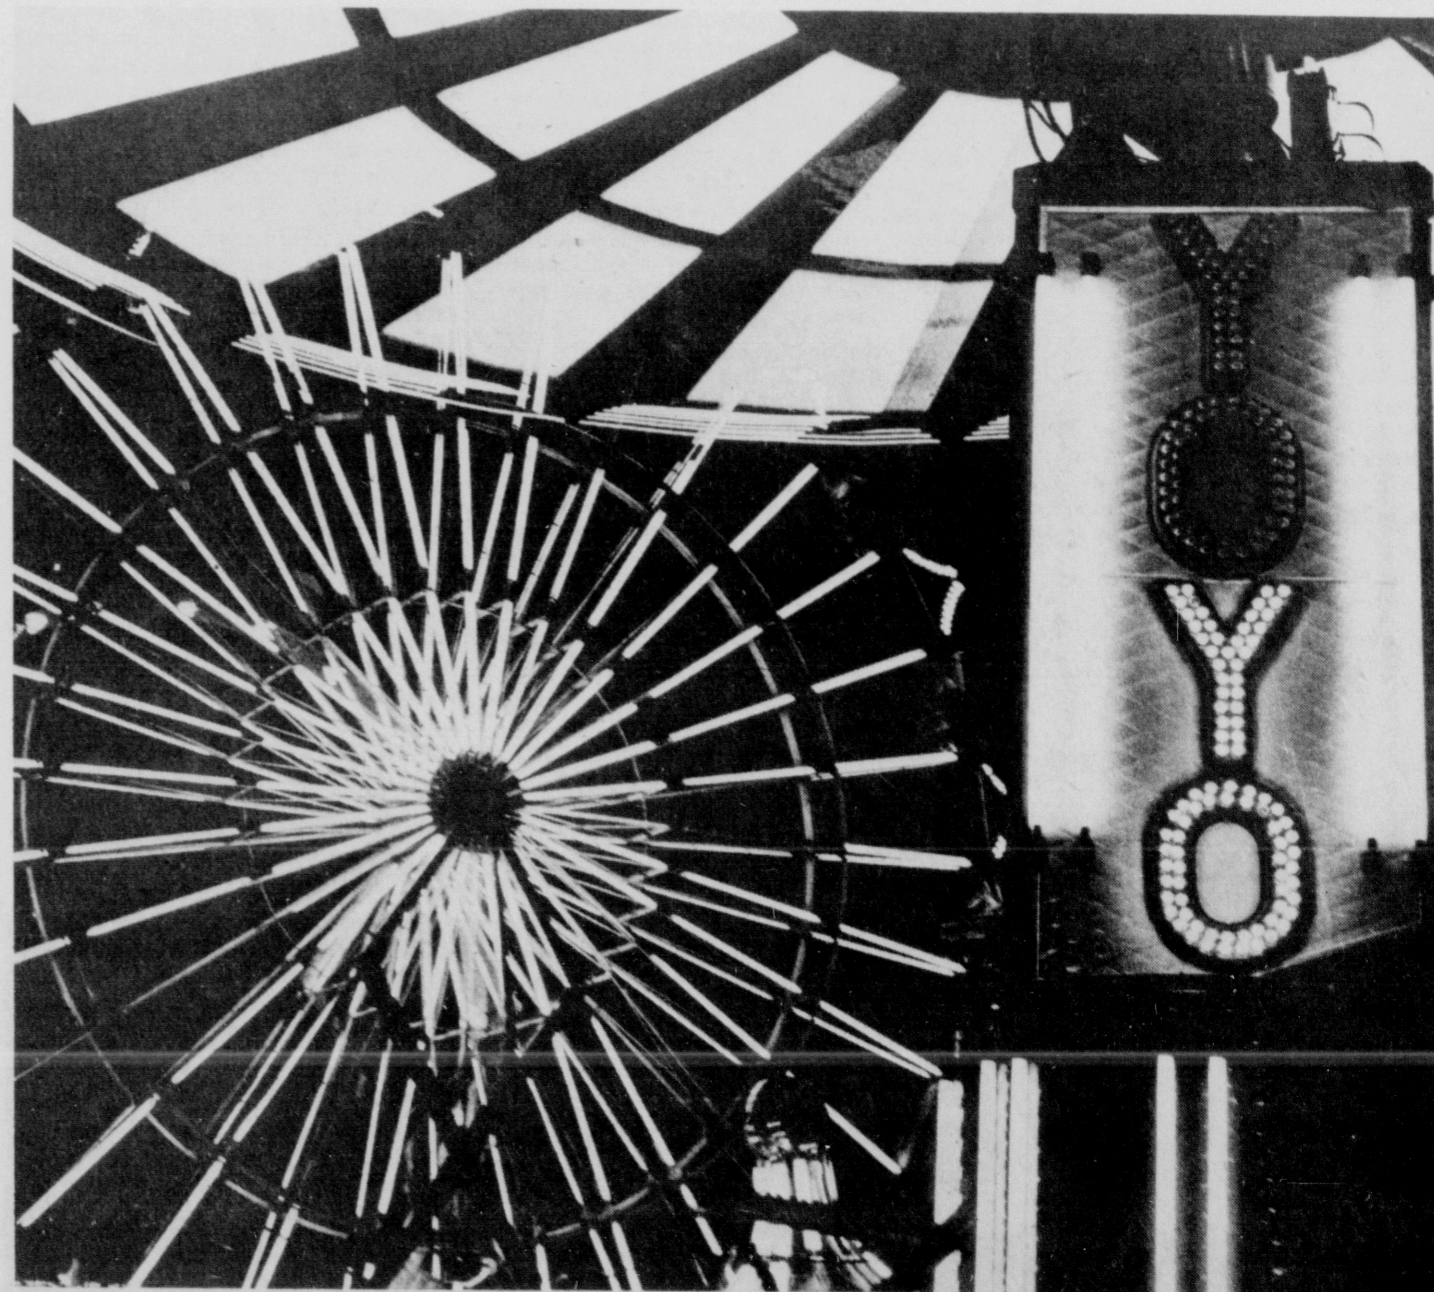

Morgan, 38, was so nervous about being a contestant on the Lottery that he gained two pounds eating ice cream and drinking milk to soothe his ulcer.

Morgan of Oregon, a suburb of Toledo, said he plans to use the money to pay the mortgage on his house. He and his wife also plan to visit relatives in Texas and Tennessee. Morgan, a machine operator with the Haughton Elevator and Escalators Co., said he plans to keep his job.

The two $30,000 prize winners were Mat Kom of Cleveland and Ruth W. Moeller of Cincinnati.

The remaining prizes of $15,000 each were won by Ralph T. Bambino of Cleveland, Evelyn M. Postlewait of Canton, John G. Vogrin of Youngstown and Robert L. Smith of Perrysburg. —

LIGHT DISPLAY — The circles, lines and abstract patterns made by the flashing, constantly moving lights of the midway rides add to the excitement and thrill of the Fayette County Fair. The Fair is now in its final two days with a demolition derby scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights and the Junior Fair beef sale set for 6 p.m. Friday. (Ed Summers photo)

Spacemen rest after whiff of gas

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The three Apollo astronauts detected a yellow gas that "caused burning and irritation in the eyes" during their return to earth Thursday and remained in sick bay on this ship today as a precaution.

Doctors said a preliminary examination of astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Vance D. Brand and Donald K. Slayton "does not show any apparent medical problems" and the sick bay confinement was called "a precautionary measure."

This Navy carrier headed for Hawaii, meanwhile, bringing the astronauts to their first landfall since they hurtled away from earth 10 days ago to establish a beachhead in space with the Russians.

The astronauts told flight surgeons they detected the gas after their Apollo craft was parachuting toward a Pacific Ocean splashdown. They immediately donned oxygen masks, but the gas "caused burning and irritation in the eyes."

Officials said the gas was apparently nitrogen tetroxide, an oxidizer used in the propellant of the Apollo's small rocket thrusters. The chemical is very corrosive and can cause death if inhaled in sufficient concentration.

The men of Apollo splashed down 330 miles west of Pearl Harbor. This helicopter carrier is expected to arrive at Pearl Harbor about 3:15 p.m. EDT today.

One of the Navy swimmers who leaped in the ocean beside the spacecraft moments after splashdown said the astronauts pushed open a hatch from the inside.

"They said they wanted to get some fresh air as soon as possible," said Lt. Thomas Kleehammer, head of the frogman team.

Normally, the Apollo hatch is not opened until after the craft has been placed aboard the recovery ship.

Their sick bay confinement forced the astronauts to miss an evening of shipboard festivities. They had been scheduled to attend a steak and lobster dinner and to cut a cake decorated with the Apollo-Soyuz flight patch.

Stafford, Slayton and Brand showed little evidence of the gas problem during brief welcoming ceremonies just after their spacecraft was hoisted on board.

All three delivered short remarks and appeared to walk with ease.

They appeared haggard, but observers credited this to exhaustion from their nine-day space trip. Brand, at one point during the ceremonies, was seen to rub his face.

Doctors first learned of the gas problem when the astronauts told of it in the ship's sick bay. The physicians canceled plans for a thorough physical examination and sent them to bed immediately.

The astronauts will leave Pearl Harbor by jet transport early Saturday morning and arrive in Houston about 10 a.m. EDT for a reunion with their families.

It will be at least another four years before U.S. astronauts again fly into space. They'll go again when a reliable rocket ship, the Space Shuttle, is ready.

As the astronauts rode the New Orleans toward a docking in Pearl Harbor later today, the leaders of the United States and Soviet Union hailed the success of Apollo-Soyuz and spoke of future cooperative space ventures by the two nations.

The cosmonauts, Alexei Leonov and Valeri Kubasov, returned to earth Monday after two days of joint flight with the Americans. They, too, sent their congratulations to Stafford, Brand and Slayton.

President Ford telephoned the astronauts minutes after they were recovered with his congratulations.

Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev messaged Ford that the flight was "an important milestone in cooperation between the USSR and the USA in exploration and use of outer space for peaceful purposes." He said it "lays a foundation for possible subsequent Soviet U.S. projects in this field."

Stock list goes down

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market lapsed into another decline today amid continued edginess over the interest rate outlook.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 5.16 at 835.11, and losers took a slight lead over gainers after trailing by more than a 2-1 margin earlier on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said continued rapid rate in the growth of the money supply as shown in weekly Federal Reserve figures issued late Thursday had rekindled fears that the Fed would be prompted to take further steps to restrict credit and thus push interest rates higher.

General Foods was the most active issue on the Big Board, down 3/4 at 24 1/2. A 58,200-share block traded at 25.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index dipped .07 to 91.50.

Trading was relatively light. The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .32 at 47.95.

Malpractice bill sent to governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Insurance Director Harry V. Jump says he is ready to move immediately to implement Ohio's new medical malpractice law, as soon as it is signed by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Jump referred Thursday to a section in the newly approved bill that sets up a Joint Underwriting Association (JUA) to provide last resort malpractice insurance for physicians and hospitals—a growing problem that has threatened Ohioans' health care.

The director said he already has taken preliminary steps to set up the assigned risk pool, provided for in the major bill which won final approval in the Senate and House earlier Thursday.

Passage came as the Senate voted 31-0 and the House 94-1 on a report of a six-member joint conference committee that worked out differences between the two chambers.

Rep. Robert W. Jaskulski, D-11 Cleveland, cast the only negative vote. The Cuyahoga County lawmaker called it "special interest" legislation aimed only at the problems "of a few people."

Conferees on the immediately effective emergency bill agreed unanimously Thursday morning after they resolved two major issues—limits on attorney fees in malpractice cases and a scheme that would require malpractice claimants to deduct certain privately gained payments from jury awards or out-of-court settlements.

The impasse was resolved with provisions that leave attorney fees up to the Ohio Supreme Court, with a "recommendation" that they should not be more than one-third of a monetary settlement or award, and with language that says private insurance benefits would not have to be deducted from settlements. The bill does require deductions payments from any other source, however, said Rep. William E. Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia, chairman of the Senate-House panel.

Under the bill, the JUA's assigned risk pool—with all the state's liability insurers participating—would take those physicians and hospitals who are unable to find malpractice insurance in the private market.

They would get insurance at "reasonable" rates, but only in the next few years while reforms aimed at eliminating the cause of the problem are carried out.

Major bills face Ohio House vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new way to provide basic state aid to public schools, open government meetings and an increase in Workmen's Compensation benefits face critical votes today in the Ohio House.

The highly controversial equal yield school bill was voted out of the House Finance Committee 12-10 Thursday after a frustrating two months that saw the plan virtually rewritten.

The bill almost hit a last minute snag when two Democratic committee members passed on the roll call, leaving supporters one short of the 12 votes required to recommend floor action. However Rep. William E. Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia, had a change of heart during an impromptu closed door meeting and changed his vote to "yes."

Extensive debate was expected today on the Senate-approved bill, but House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, predicted it would pass with Republican support.

A nonpartisan floor battle was also anticipated on the so-called "sunshine bill" that would require state and local public agencies to open business meetings to the public.

The Senate bill would eliminate "executive sessions" by which public bodies often meet in private.

It would give the public the right to take court action to open closed meetings and provide misdemeanor penalties or even removal from office for officials who refuse to comply.

The bill, nicknamed after pioneer Florida open meeting statutes, outlines a number of exceptions, including meetings of the state Ethics Commission, the parole board, meetings involving security and personnel actions, political party caucuses, and collective bargaining.

The Workmen's Compensation increase, a high priority item among majority Democrats, apparently has been agreed to by Republicans. It was reported out of committee by a 12-0 vote Wednesday.

It would raise workmen's compensation benefits from two-thirds of the statewide average weekly wage to the full state average. That level is based on the salaries of all workers covered by unemployment benefits.

Two-thirds of the 1975 average is $119 weekly.

The school bill was brought to the brink of defeat in committee by the insertion of an amendment that would require the attendance of more than 50 per cent of the teachers for a school to remain open.

"We're playing hardball politics," Rep. Ben Rose, R-64 Lima said after all nine Republican committee members voted against recommending the measure. "That (teachers amendment) put this bill in jeopardy."

Rep. George D. Tablack, D-52 Campbell, the lone Democrat to vote "no," said he objected to several features.

Under equal yield funding, each Ohio school district would be guaranteed the same return of state and local dollars combined for each mill of tax levied locally.

The intent is to reward districts with lower tax bases that make efforts to provide funds for their schools.

The committee approved amendments to channel extra money to districts with high percentages of pupils from Aid to Dependent Children families.

The following districts would receive an additional $10 per pupil as a result of the ADC amendment: Toledo, Youngstown, Columbus, Portsmouth, New Boston, Steubenville, Akron, Western (Pike County) and Rock Hill (Lawrence).

Canton, and Valley and Bloom in Scioto County, would receive an extra $7.50 per pupil under the same provision.

A separate amendment grants an additional $7.50 per pupil to five other districts which have more than 600 ADC pupils, but fall below minimum level for extra funding: Southwestern (Grove City) Xenia, Fairborn, Princeton and Elyria.

Finance members also voted to: —guarantee that no district would get less money during the second year of the new program than it currently receives.

—provide increased state funds during the same year tax levies are approved increasing local millage, rather than a year to 18 months later, the current norm.

—disband the joint Education Review Committee, which drafted the equal yield plan late last year.

—Transfer $10 million from basic aid to increase funding for programs for handicapped children.

Potential hurricane develops off Florida

By The Associated Press

Near hurricane-force winds have battered Tucson, Ariz., and the second tropical depression — a potential hurricane — has developed off the Florida coast.

Elsewhere, heavy rains and thunder and lightning struck in widely scattered parts of the nation Thursday, injuring a group of children in upstate New York and killing livestock in North Carolina.

In the Midwest a large high pressure system brought cooler and drier air to the northern half of the Plains into the Northern Rockies. A cold front dropped temperatures along the Pacific Northwest coast while readings in the Southwest continued slightly higher.

In Tucson, 60-mile-an hour winds ripped the roofs off an apartment complex and an airplane hangar, sweeping dust and sand through the city and leaving 200 persons homeless.

No injuries were reported. Police said nine aircraft were damaged when the hangar roof was blown off at Tucson International Airport.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — First, the bad news: Lily Tomlin's hour-long special on ABC tonight, her second this year, is the last called for in her contract with the network, according to ABC.

The good news is that her farewell gig displays grade-A humor, writing, acting and pace, save for a long closing cocktail lounge drama that proposes a slice of life and produces a bathos sandwich.

But I have no beef — it must be lunchtime or something — about the rest of the proceedings. In the Tomlin tradition, they contain some of the sharpest, most perceptive humor at large on TV today.

For example, in the opening salvo, she takes those women's hairspray commercials to their logical conclusion.

Posing as Judy Beasley, a flat-voiced housewife who says she is a real person, not an actress, she shows how Sta-Put hairspray keeps her tresses in place no matter what the circumstances.

She does this by sitting in a chair atop a platform that rolls through a carwash.

Later, she takes on "confession" magazines, noting that "good women" stories always use words like "meat loaf, budget, mending and curtains" while bad women yarns use "throbbing, lurid, sordid, seamy."

This causes a fallen women sketch in which she plays a bored housewife whose sole goal is to have her husband, a mailman, become president.

"Ed, why don't you enter a primary or something?" she nags.

She later confides to a housewife neighbor that she and Ed don't have much of a sex life. Try an affair, the neighbor suggests, citing one she'd had with a teen-age boy who'd been babysitting for her.

That wouldn't work with Ed, Lily muses: "Since we have no children, he would be suspicious if I hired a baby sitter."

To fill her empty hours, she gets a job as a department store executive, almost has an affair with the lecherous boss — John Byner — but finds true happiness following some sort of plot and the gift of a fur coat and $10,000 in cash.

It's a nifty skit, but the classic in the show is "Dull City," a fable done in documentary style. It concerns a girl who had the misfortune to be born a clown — complete with clown greasepaint and wig.

Her problem is that she lives in a city with antifun laws. Those convicted of funning are sent to a center for serious training and taught never to throw pies in peoples' faces.

Gas surplus use sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbia Gas of Ohio is under orders to try to find Ohio customers before it sends 4.6 billion cubic feet of natural gas outside the state this summer.

The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio said it had directed Columbia to make every effort to find Ohio customers first.

The firm said it had 4.6 billion cubic feet of natural gas available that regular customers could not use at this time. It said it did not have storage facilities for the gas.

The firm noted that Federal Power Commission regulations allow the company to offer the gas to out-of-state customers of Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., Columbia Gas of Ohio's supplier.

Conflict within LEAA

The bureaucratic war raging within the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration has been in progress far too long. It appears to be having an adverse effect on the agency's performance. The administration should act firmly to end the infighting and get on with the business of fighting crime.

A move has been made in this direction. Deputy Attorney General Harold R. Tyler Jr. reportedly is trying to stop the battle between opposing factions. There is some question, however, whether he wields sufficient authority to deal with the matter quickly.

If this is the case, more effective steps should be taken without delay. The long-standing dispute over how much the agency should spend on law enforcement hardware and how much on other aspects of the program ought to be resolved, if possible, before congressional hearings being this fall on whether to extend LEAA for another five years.

THESE DAYS . . . By John Chamberlain

Amendment remains in peril

When the Supreme Court, in 1971, freed the New York Times and the Washington Post to continue publication of the so-called Pentagon Papers, it presumably created a controlling precedent. Nobody, so the Court said in effect, had any business tampering with the First Amendment unless it was obvious that a danger to national security was involved.

Daniel Ellsberg might be guilty as hell of violating his own secrecy oath, but editors who had never signed a pledge were not bound by it.

If the First Amendment means what it says, that Congress shall pass no law whatsoever infringing Freedom of the Press, and if the Supreme Court has spoken once and for all, one would suppose that we would be hearing less and less about such matters as "prior restraint," or court gag orders barring the press from trials, or subpoenas to reporters to divulge their confidential news sources to prosecution or defense attorneys who are incapable of doing their own work. Such, however, is not the case.

The truth is that gag orders and prior restraint injunctions and subpoenas have been flourishing like a whole forest of green bay trees. And, to cap what has become a most menacing movement against taking the First Amendment at its word, a bipartisan coalition in the U.S. Senate, led by such worthies as Mike Mansfield, Hugh Scott, Roman Hruska, Birch Bayh and

Jim Eastland, has been backing an "official secrets act" bill that would subject newspapers to automatic criminal prosecution for publishing any information not officially released by a government agency.

Though the Ford Administration has backed the bill, it will probably not be cleared for action during this session of Congress. Nevertheless, it shows the way the wind is blowing. Some time ago a few concerned reporters led by Jack Landau of the Newhouse Newspapers, Lyle Denniston of the Washington Star-News and Eileen Shanahan of the New York Times formed a Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press. The Committee has worked without funds, depending on ad hoc donations of time and legal expertise, but it has had surprising voluntary support throughout the country. Its "FYI — Media Alert," published on a bi-monthly basis, offers the most disquieting sort of information compiled from court activities practically everywhere in 50 states.

Thus, on the matter of "prior restraint," we find a San Diego Court barring a reporter from engaging in journalistic activities while he is on probation for a marijuana rap, and another judge suspending the showing of the anti-Vietnam War film "Hearts and Minds" for 23 days.

Then there was Jimmy Cagney's effort to stop publication of an unauthorized biography, and the various government proceedings to halt the distribution of books critical of the CIA.

A Port Chester, N.Y., editor has claimed harassment for publishing his stories of vandalism and an alleged lack of police protection in the black section of his town. A Tucson TV reporter has protested against intimidating telephone calls for "sticking" her nose "into areas where it doesn't belong."

The lower courts do not, of course, manage to sustain all their gags and subpoenas, but the menace to the First Amendment remains a lively one. Hence the decision of the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press to set up a Legal Defense and Research Fund, with a concomitant campaign to raise $2 million to help pay the costs of providing the information and legal aid needed to support journalists who would, among other things, protect their sources. Arthur R. Taylor, president of Columbia Broadcasting System, will head the drive for the next two years.

Ironically, Mr. Taylor's CBS, which has to submit to the Fairness Rules, does not get the benefit of the First Amendment. Sen. Roman Hruska, with his bill entitled "The Act for Restoration of Broadcasters' First Amendment Rights," would change all this. But, another irony, Hruska is one of the sponsors of the "Official Secrets Act" bill which would take First Amendment protection away from anybody printing anything from a classified government document.

When individual Senators can be so unclear about the First Amendment, it is no wonder that prior restraint and gag rules flourish all over the place down in the sticks.

Ohio Perspective

State cash flow precarious

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' November bond issues would do nothing to help improve Ohio's precarious cash flow situation for about a year, concedes Howard L. Collier, state budget and management director.

Collier, appearing before the Senate Finance Committee in connection with his own appointment by Rhodes, said the earliest help could not come before late 1976.

"We're talking about the second year of the 1975-1976 biennium," Collier told the committee.

The second year of the two-year bookkeeping period starts July 1, 1976. Finance Chairman Harry Meshele, D-33 Youngstown, said he was disturbed that members of the Rhodes cabinet, who are helping campaign for the bond issues' adoption on the November ballot, "are going around the state saying the four issues will solve all our economic problems."

"That's a terrible fallacy," he said. He asked Collier, "Isn't it true, if all the proposals were approved tomorrow, it would be at least a year before the state could derive any money from the bond issues?"

"Yes," replied Collier. He added that he had become frustrated with some department heads who had pressured the legislature for more money in the budget bill, knowing it would not be possible to grant their requests with existing state revenues.

Rhodes' package includes capital improvement and transportation bond issues totaling about $4.3 billion. Bonds sold under these issues would be paid off with slight increases in the state gasoline and sales taxes, in each case less than one penny.

Republicans who controlled both houses of the Ohio General Assembly for years are showing signs of getting accustomed to being in the minority again.

Veteran Rep. Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, introduced a series of amendments to a medical malpractice bill. He listened as the roll was called on his latest proposal, with Republicans still on the losing side.

"Mr. Chairman, after that monumental show of power, that's the last of my amendments," he told Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-6 Dayton, chairman of the Elections, Financial Institutions and Insurance Committee.

Democrats experienced similar frustrations when the GOP ran both houses of the legislature throughout the 1960s and into the early 1970s. They reclaimed the Senate only this year.

Rep. Gene Damschroder, R-85 Fremont, thinks he has found a way to make his colleagues in the legislature more cost-conscious.

He has introduced a bill calling for a 2 per cent pay cut for each legislator, if the General Assembly spends more money this year than in 1974. Legislators are paid $17,500 a year.

If they spend less money this year, Damschroder's bill proposes a 1 per cent bonus for the lawmakers.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Flat 14 year old needs development plan and padding

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 14-year-old girl. My problem is that I am flat and most boys go for built-up chicks. I know you are going to say, "Wear padded bras," but where will that get me?

I eat everything that is good for me. Fresh fruit, and vegetables and milk, but it all goes to my stomach, thighs and butt.

I am always cut down because I'm flat. I have to wear children's clothes because I have a 30AA bust and my hips are 31 1/2. I am 5'11" and weigh 95 pounds.

I see stuff advertised in magazines, but I haven't sent for any because, in the first place, I don't see how creams can put inches on your bust, and in the second, my Mom opens all the mail. She would kill me if she knew I was even thinking about anything like that.

Please be a friend and put your answer in the paper. There must be at least a million girls with my problem.

FLAT

DEAR FLAT: You are a very wise girl to wonder how creams could put inches on you. They can't. Be patient. And I AM going to tell you to wear a padded bra. At least you will look better in clothes.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law runs her house without any schedule or system. She is 31 and so is her husband. Their children are 2 and 4.

They eat when they're hungry and go to sleep when they're tired.

I told them nicely that they should get some kind of schedule, but they paid no attention to me. I also sent them a book on basic child care and nutrition, but I haven't seen any signs of their having read it.

She puts off the housekeeping chores that almost every homemaker does routinely. She just plays with the children and dresses them like dolls, forgetting that balanced meals and a set of routine are important to good health.

Please tell me what to do. My nerves get shot every time I go over there and see what is going on.

MOTHER-IN-LAW

DEAR MOTHER-IN-LAW: Be kind to yourself, and don't go over there so often if it upsets you. If your son isn't aware that his wife needs straightening out, let it go. You've done all you can.

DEAR ABBY: About the woman who was "fuming" because her teenage daughter got her ears pierced while she was away for the weekend, knowing that she wouldn't have approved:

I am the proud father of two clean-cut-looking BOYS, ages 17 and 18. Each one wears a round gold ring through his left pierced ear.

This doesn't bother me. I view it as a sign of the times, and the possible revival of the days when it was customary for males to wear earrings. JOHN IN PONTIAC, MICH.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, July 25, the 206th day of 1975. There are 159 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1963, the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain signed a treaty prohibiting nuclear testing in the atmosphere, in space and under water.

On this date: In 1799, Napoleon Bonaparte defeated the Turks in a battle in Egypt. In 1878, the first Chinese diplomatic mission to the United States arrived in Washington.

In 1934, Adolf Hitler staged an unsuccessful attempt to take over Austria. Troops of the Nazi Black Guard assassinated Austrian Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

In 1952, Puerto Rico became a self-governing commonwealth of the United States.

In 1956, the Italian liner, "Andrea Doria," and a Swedish ship, the "Stockholm," collided off the New England coast. The Andrea Doria sank, with a loss of 50 lives.

In 1957, the French National Assembly voted to grant independence to Tunisia.

Ten years ago: Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York removed himself from consideration for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1968.

Five years ago: South Vietnamese troops were attacking Communist forces in southeastern Cambodia.

One year ago: President Richard Nixon, speaking before a group of businessmen in Los Angeles, appealed to the American people to spend less money, as part of a program to curb inflation.

Today's birthdays: Democratic Senator Frank Church of Idaho is 51 years old. Longhornsoreman and writer Eric Hoffer is 73.

Thought for today: A handful of common sense is worth a bushel of learning — Spanish proverb.

Bicentennial footnote: It was 200 years ago today that the official report of the Revolutionary War Battle of Bunker Hill reached London. The report said the battle was a victory for the British, but had been won dearly.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, JULY 26

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

There may be fewer gains now but, conversely, also fewer pitfalls; be on the lookout for both, however. A good day for meetings, agreements involving future projects.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

If you have a tight schedule, a deadline to meet, it will be especially important to keep calm. And DO appraise situations carefully before acting. Business matters need extra vigilance.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Avoid activities, ideas or people who are not worthwhile. Temptation sometimes comes in odd garb, so use a careful but not entirely suspicious yardstick.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

You can choose activities from several areas now, but stay within reasonable boundaries. Stellar influences, fairly auspicious, stimulate your creative leanings.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

You should do especially well now in projects which require careful organization, clever management. Don't let opposition dissuade you.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

If careful to guard against impulsive acts and words, the day should be generally smooth. Gains indicated from past efforts.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Think "big" and aim for top achievement. This is no day for pessimism. Concentrate on essentials, and don't overlook even the smallest of your opportunities.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Opposition from unexpected sources should not disrupt routine or plans previously made. Accept all challenges with your innate sturdiness and ability.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Be careful not to provoke others in business or social gatherings. You may detect flaws in the reasoning of some, but speak sparingly — and only where it will HELP.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Stand pat on decisions which have been carefully made. Resist temptations to "forget" promises, make spur-of-the-moment changes. Some good news in the offing.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Your active mind needs expression now. Direct it with forethought and discernment. Review investments, future plans. Changes may soon be required.

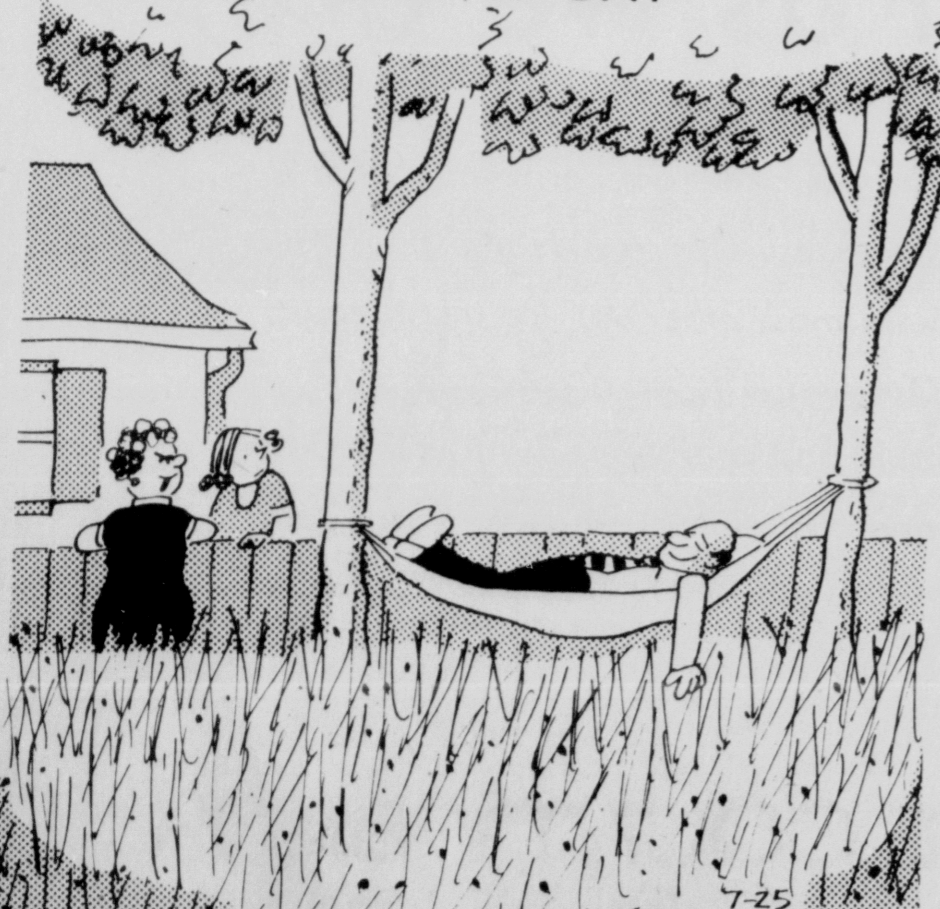

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Aspects fairly generous. Past good work should bring rewards now. In making plans, have alternatives ready.

YOU BORN TODAY are one of the most versatile of all Leotes. There is practically no field in which, properly trained, of course, you could not make an outstanding success. You are highly creative and could excel at writing, painting or sculpture (working in metal or bronze, especially). The stage would also be an excellent outlet for your talents as would be the law or politics. In the legal field your sense of the dramatic would make you an outstanding trial lawyer. Traits to curb: arrogance, overaggressiveness.

Vary those vegetables

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

EVEN the best cooks fall down on the job when it comes to vegetables. Dinner after dinner, they prepare them the same way — boiled and seasoned with salt, pepper and butter. It's not inspired. Vegetable dishes should be varied, sparked with new seasonings, cooked in new ways. Here are suggestions on how to do it:

Homemakers have a regrettable tendency to think of celery as a vegetable best served raw or as a flavoring agent in soups. Yes, it is superb with apples, walnuts and mayonnaise in Waldorf Salad. Yes, it does beautiful things for chicken soup. But don't forget that celery is also a marvelous cooked vegetable. The Florida celery crop is abundant right now, so start cooking with celery. In this recipe, it has plus flavor and minus calories as a hot vegetable. We've called it "risotto" because, like the rice in the popular Italian dish, it absorbs the flavors of the herbs and spices as it simmers in chicken bouillon:

CELERY "RISOTTO"

2 tablespoons cooking oil
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup boiling water
1 chicken bouillon cube
1 teaspoon basil leaves, crumbled
1-16th teaspoon ground black pepper
Pinch saffron
9 cups finely chopped celery
In large saucepan or skillet, heat oil. Add onion; saute until tender, about 3 minutes. Add water, bouillon cube, basil, black pepper and saffron; stir to dissolve bouillon. Stir in celery; simmer, uncovered, until celery is crisp-tender, 12 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Season to taste with salt, if desired.
Makes 6 to 8 portions.

The Chinese angle on celery calls for cooking it with ginger, soy sauce and pea pods for:

CELERY ORIENTAL

1 cup butter or margarine
3 cup diagonally sliced celery
1 green pepper, sliced in strips
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 small clove garlic, crushed
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon salt
1-16th teaspoon ground black pepper
1 package (6 ounces) frozen Chinese pea pods (optional)
In a large skillet, melt butter. Add celery, green pepper and onion; saute for 5 minutes, stirring often. Add soy sauce, garlic, ginger, salt and black pepper. Cover and simmer for 7 minutes. Add pea pods; cook until vegetables are crisp-tender, about 5 minutes.
Makes 6 portions.

Celery and peas go together in a vegetable dish that's especially good served with fish:

GREEN MEDLEY

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon salad oil
4 cups diagonally sliced celery
1 package (10 ounces) frozen green peas, partly thawed
1/2 cup sliced stuffed green olives
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
In a large skillet, heat butter and oil. Add celery; cook and stir for 5 minutes. Add peas; cook and stir 5 minutes longer. Blend in olives, salt and black pepper. Cook and stir 1 minute longer.
Makes 6 portions.

A broiler-fryer chicken is about eight weeks old and weights two to 3 1/2 pounds, as you buy it in the grocery store.

FORT BOISE TUNA-POTATO CAKES are light, luscious and crispy brown, an old-fashioned main dish made with canned tuna and instant mashed potatoes that have Idaho on the package label.

Main dishes from out west feature Idaho's instant mashed

Way out west, there's a state where the mountains reach for the sky, the salmon are lively in the rivers, and the potatoes come from the fields with a netted pattern on their russet skins. That probably gave you the clue to the name of the state because everyone knows that the famous Russet Burbank potatoes grow best in Idaho.

You can even get the taste combination of the mountain people's salmon and potatoes together in a batch of Salmon River-Potato Cakes, a main dish made with canned salmon and instant mashed potatoes that say Idaho on the label. This is a hearty old-fashioned treat that the whole family will enjoy, and it is definitely on the side of the budget, not against it.

We take instant mashed potatoes for granted today but their origin is relatively recent. It was back during World War II that the government asked Idaho potato people to develop a form of potatoes that was less bulky to transport yet would travel well and taste good. Well, they filled the first two requirements quite readily but it took many years of patient research and effort to produce the delicious-tasting instant mashed potato granules now available from the state where so much of the original testing and development began.

Another main dish that goes well with the season is savory Fort Boise Tuna-Potato Cakes. With their staple ingredients on hand, you can make a fine main course for your meal even if the weather prevents you from going to the store. These fine potato main dishes are nourishing, filling, and whole lot for the money.

Nurses agree flowers plants good 'medicine'

Flowers and plants aren't just pretty to look at, but have a psychological effect that encourages some patients to feel better, according to a national poll of nursing supervisors.

To many hospital patients, pretty flowers and green plants are a symbol that he or she is loved by the person sending the gift. Ill persons respond eagerly to tender, loving care, the nurses explain, and therefore many have an incentive to get better. For the same reason, they add, some patients take a turn for the better after a kind, reassuring word from a physician or nurse.

The views of 2,400 supervisors of nursing in the nation's hospitals and nursing homes were sought by Florists' Transworld Delivery (FTD), the intercity floral delivery network. Of the 650 responses, more than 90 per cent were in accord in believing that flowers actually have a therapeutic effect on many patients. More than 70 per cent of the nursing heads felt that plants symbolize "life" and "growth" to many patients who, as they watch plants develop and grow strong, are stimulated to do the same.

A few nurses thought the psychological impact of flowers and plants might work in reverse. Plants and flowers may die due to lack of care, they noted, possibly causing some patients to brood and become depressed. However, one respondent added that a patient may draw a psychological lesson that if good care helps flowers thrive, good care also will help him thrive.

In reply to other queries, most nurses said floral gifts should be delivered to patients in the afternoon, rather than in the morning. Relatives and friends also were urged by the nursing directors to send bouquets of brightly - colored flowers, rather than muted tones.

Whether a flower arrangement or a plant, the gift should be small due to limited space in hospital rooms, it was pointed out.

The personal favorite flower of nurses is the rose, as it is of the general public.

Among the nurses' comments on the therapeutic benefit of flowers were the following:

- "fresh and lovely flowers are an incentive to be healthy - a token of love, hope and beauty..."

- "flowers are a reminder that someone's thoughts and prayers are with the patient."

- "being part of something growing and feeling you're a part in the development and growth can give a feeling of satisfaction."

Club meets at Cedarhurst

Members of the Arts and Crafts Club spent a delightful afternoon with Mrs. John Rhoads at her Cedarhurst cottage for the July meeting.

Mrs. Gilbert Biddle presided at the brief business meeting when plans for the forthcoming meeting were discussed.

The program was presented by Mrs. Henry Best, who gave instructions for covering a box with aluminum foil using raised decorations and glazing of black enamel. The finished box has somewhat the appearance of antique pewter.

Mrs. Rhoads served an assortment of snacks at the close of the afternoon.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Bart Mahoney, Aug. 19 one week earlier than the usual time. Mrs. Mahoney and her assistant, Mrs. Ralph Child, have planned an afternoon of working with cornhusks with instruction in making flowers, wreaths and dolls.

Panel approves consumer bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has approved legislation designed to protect new homeowners from being stuck with construction bills left unpaid by contractors.

The so-called "mechanics lien bill" would require builders to pay all subcontractors, workers and suppliers before a home is sold, to guarantee that no liens are attached to the property.

Officials pleased with comments received

Over 2,500 persons attend open house at Armco plant

The Armco Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant in Washington C. H. hosted over 2,500 persons through the facility on U.S. 35-S during a two-day open house Wednesday and Thursday in celebration of the company's 75th anniversary.

Leo B. Edwards, plant personnel supervisor who served as coordinator for the anniversary project at the Washington C. H. plant, said although the turnout was not as large as had been expected, plant officials were well-pleased with the comments from those who attended and the overall performance of the open house.

Edwards cited the coinciding Fayette County Fair and the fact the open house was held at only one time from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. both days as deterrents to the anticipated attendance figures.

"But we were pleased with the results," he said. "We received excellent comments from those who attended and many appeared to be enlightened by what they saw."

The main feature of the open house was a 15-minute, multi-media presentation in an air conditioned, 255-seat geodesic-like dome which briefed the history of the company, illustrated its production lines and explained the company's contributions to not only the local communities but to the areas it serves around the globe.

Edwards said several of the visitors in the plant were surprised to find the facility so large and the great diversification of the company's products.

"We have 12 acres under roof at the Washington C. H. plant and it's quite a long walk," Edwards explained. "You just don't realize how big the plant is by looking from the highway."

He added the Armco Steel Corp. has expanded its production lines during its 75 years to include not only steel for which it is most noted, but also plastics, luggage, snowmobiles, other recreational vehicles and energy production equipment.

The Armco Steel Corp. is now the nation's third largest steel company in terms of total sales and earnings and the 418 employees of the Washington C. H. firm produced a record 100,000 tons of pre-engineered steel buildings last year.

Visitors during the open house were given tours to all departments of the plant, which has been manufacturing pre-engineered steel buildings locally since 1950, and each received a Scotch pine seedling as part of the company's anniversary theme of environmental improvement.

Edwards said all seedlings not distributed at the open house will be planted in a greenbelt in the company-owned, 100-acre Armco Park Highland on Thomas Road in Highland County.

Other seedlings are being used to landscape open areas of Armco Steel Corp. locations, which now include facilities in 20 different countries, and for screening many of the plants in heavily-populated areas from occupants of surrounding properties and highways.

Seven persons who traveled through the Washington C. H. plant were drawn to receive prizes during the open house celebration, Edwards added. Selected were Richard Badgley of Greenfield, Arthur W. Deakyn of Washington C. H., Mrs. Gerald Butcher of Bloomingburg, Teresa Oberschlake of Middletown, and Janelle Pyle, Pam Yarger and Patti Zinn, all of Washington C. H.

WCH firm awarded contract

Greenfield firm sets expansion

GREENFIELD — Cal M. Hayward, general manager of the Hoover Chemical Products Co., plant in Greenfield, today announced the firm will expand its facilities with the addition of three 27,000 square foot warehouse buildings.

The new warehouse facilities will serve to smooth production schedules and improve customer service.

Ground has been broken for the construction of the three separate 9,000 square foot structures. The contract for construction has been awarded to the Great Oaks Construction Co. of Washington C. H.

Hayward explained by utilizing three structures instead of one, the company will minimize any fire hazards that might exist. As a further precaution, the buildings will be constructed of all metal materials.

Construction of the warehouses is expected to be completed in November. Hayward said the company expects the expansion to further strengthen its competitive position as a manufacturer of foam seating for the automobile industry.

He pointed out customer delivery requirements vary considerably from week to week. By scheduling uniform rates of production over long period of time and then storing excess production during periods of flow demands, the company will be able to handle customer demands during peak periods, a definite advantage to both the company and the customer, according to Hayward.

The investment required for the three additional warehouses gives the firm approximately 121,000 square feet of facilities.

The company, which launched operation in Greenfield in 1965, had major expansion projects in 1967 and 1969.

According to Hayward, the company's willingness to continue its program of investment and expansion in Greenfield "reflects its deep satisfaction with the community and faith in its future."

Hayward said the decision to add the warehouse facilities would not necessarily create more job openings, but it would tend to stabilize the present work force.

The company is currently operating on a reduced two-shift schedule due to the model changeover by auto manufacturers.

Normal operations are expected to resume as 1976 car model production begins.

The Hoover Chemical Products Co. plant is a division of the Hoover Ball and Bearing Co.

McGovern won't run for President

WASHINGTON (AP) — After consulting with his top 1972 advisers and close friends, Sen. George McGovern says he is sticking with his earlier decision against making another bid for the presidency in 1976.

"I don't find any reason to reconsider my decision of a year ago," the 1972 Democratic nominee said in an interview.

McGovern sent a letter to some 35 advisers and friends asking what course he should follow in 1976, including the possibility of being an active presidential candidate, supporting another hopeful or concentrating on issues and his work in the Senate.

"We had been receiving inquiries whether I wouldn't reconsider and take another look at it," he said, adding that the responses "fortified my own decision."

Ohio attorney general outlines revised drug bill in stop here

By GEORGE MALEK

"The purpose of the bill is to crack down on the pusher and to help the user," said Ohio Attorney General William J. Brown.

The reference is to a revised drug bill which Brown has promoted for the past two years. While in Washington C.H. Thursday, the attorney general reported that the measure had just been approved by an 89-6 margin in the senate and is likely to be approved in the Ohio House of Representatives.

The heart of the legislation is the inclusion of mandatory prison terms for those convicted of selling drugs. "Under this law, the pusher will know that if he is convicted, he is going to jail," he said. "He will not get probation, shock probation after 30 days or an early parole."

The minimum jail term would be determined by the "viciousness" of the drug sold, he continued. Sale of barbiturates or amphetamines would carry a two-year minimum prison term while sale of heroin would result in at least a four-year imprisonment.

"It is time we stopped listening to how the criminal was forced into his way of life because his parents are divorced or because they beat him when he was a child," he stated. "If you want to sell drugs, you're going to jail for a long time, it's as simple as that," he stressed.

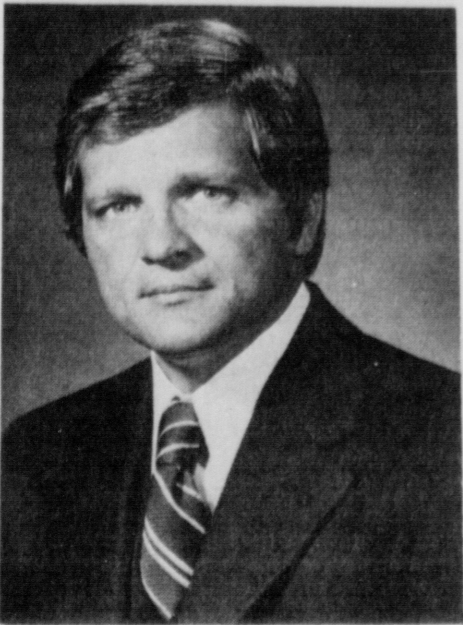

On the other hand, the penalties for the user have been reduced. "First offenders will face no jail time at all if they are willing to enter a state rehabilitation program," the attorney general said. He added that possession of marijuana carries only a $100 fine.

Another change is the definition of "pusher." Under the present Ohio law, giving one marijuana cigarette to a friend is considered a "sale." Distributing any amount of a drug with or without getting paid for it is termed selling. The pending legislation requires that the sale be an amount equal to at least a three-day supply of a drug.

Although the amount varies from drug to drug, the guidelines is what the attorney general's office determined is approximately a three-day supply. For amounts less than that, the mandatory jail term clause does not apply. In the case of marijuana, the sale must be of at least a half-pound before the mandatory sentence comes into effect.

To assist law-enforcement agencies, the bill also authorizes the creation of a drug control board. The board would be responsible for ranking all drugs according to their potency. Drugs which are not now classified would be tested for the amount of harmful ingredients contained within them and immediately placed in one of five potency levels.

An advanced training school for law enforcement officers is nearing completion, he said. The facility, located in London, is expected to be ready for operation in November. As many as 110 officers can enroll in each training session. New techniques and changes in law will be stressed. Brown, who has promoted the facility for several years, said it is the first advanced training site in the state.

Marijuana has been removed from the narcotic drug list because of the low level of harmful effect.

When asked whether there was any move to legalize marijuana because of this same lack of harmful effect, Brown said definitely not. "There has not been enough research to determine if it is really dangerous," he added.

Although he admitted that many drugs have been placed on the shelves of drug stores with much less testing than marijuana has received over the last decade, he maintained that even more testing is necessary.

"Why should we legalize marijuana when alcoholism is already America's greatest drug problem?" Brown asked.

Brown feels there is some justification for striking from the books all crimes without victims. These include fornication, prostitution, homosexuality and even sexual practices between married couples.

He spoke in depth only about prostitution, and said that legalization was a viable prospect — with sufficient regulation. Only with a very strong state licensing program would legalization of prostitution be reasonable.

While legalization would take the profit from organized crime and free hundreds of police officers across the state for other duty, the attorney general said strict licensing would have to be incorporated in such a measure to check the spread of venereal disease.

"Crimes without victims are rather outmoded," he said, "but they are difficult to define. If no one is injured other than the 'criminals,' the value of the law is questionable, but determining whether or not society is the victim is not always easy," he concluded.

Brown also discussed shield laws briefly. He said he was in favor of a complete shield law, protecting news reporters from disclosing their sources of information under any circumstances. He added, however, that a professional association of newsmen should be established to oversee its own members. He suggests that the association operated in a manner similar to the Ohio Bar Association where ethical questions are brought before the individual's peers.

Following dinner with local Democrats Robert Mace, Richard Kimmel and Milbourne Barney, Brown visited the Fayette County Fair.

After stopping at the Democratic Party booth in the Mahan Building, Brown visited his own display on law enforcement. The booth depicts scenes in which persons are confronted by officers.

They may be criminals reaching for a gun, or John Doe reaching for his identification. In either case the officer must make a split-second decision which could cost him his life or someone else their life if he is wrong. The purpose of the film is to acquaint the public with the difficulties the officer faces daily.

Brown's last stop was the tractor-pull at the grandstand. He spoke briefly prior to the event, and awarded the first trophy.

In two other traffic cases aired Thursday, Susan E. Whetro, 22, Fostoria, forfeited $35 on a charge of having an unsafe vehicle, and Dennis C. Rodgers, 28, of 328 E. Court St., forfeited $25 for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

UC hurt by veto of funding

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Without the special $10 million subsidy from the Ohio legislature, the University of Cincinnati's switch to full state affiliation may be in jeopardy, school officials said Thursday.

The doubts were expressed in the wake of Wednesday's unsuccessful attempt by the Ohio House of Representatives to override Gov. James A. Rhodes' veto of the $10 million bonus to help the switch from city to state ownership.

"To prepare a budget in the absence of the $10 million will require some very difficult decisions," said James Eden, vice president for finance and management.

Possible actions if the $10 million is not approved could include tuition increases, a freeze on employee raises and new hiring and closing some campus facilities, according to another university official.

The school continues to operate in "limbo" pending the outcome of efforts to restore the $10 million, Eden said.

Though efforts are under way in the legislature to restore the vetoed funds, State Sen. William F. Bowen, D-9, said "it is very likely" the Senate will refuse to allocate the money.

"That money is back in the bag," said Bowen, who represents part of Cincinnati. "And there are a lot of senators with pet programs."

Cincinnati voters must pass a charter amendment to release the school from its municipal affiliation and officials think the subsidy cut may weaken those chances.

Drug abuse bill to face action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Senate is expected to vote next week on a House-approved bill revising Ohio's drug laws, including lighter penalties for possessing small amounts of marijuana and hashish.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, putting hashish, a concentrated derivative from the same plant as marijuana, into the same category, recommended passage 9-0 Thursday.

Leaders reportedly have given assurances to Atty. Gen. William J. Brown that it will be acted upon by the Senate before the legislature's expected summer adjournment Aug. 1. Brown sent the bill to the legislature early this year.

House sponsors, apprised of an extensive series of amendments by the Senate committee, lauded the panel's work and said they could accept it without change.

Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-34 Dayton, chairman of a House subcommittee that considered the bill for about three months, said "it's a good bill. I would recommend it as is." He said he would like to see it enacted promptly "so we can give it a couple of years to see how it works."

The Senate committee, headed by Sen. David L. Headley, D-28 Barberton removed hashish from the bill's list of more dangerous drugs and put it into the same category with marijuana.

However, hashish is said to be about 20 times stronger than marijuana, and the penalties were adjusted accordingly.

For example, the bill provides that possession of 100 grams or less of marijuana is a minor misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $100. The same penalty would apply to hashish, except that the amount would have to be five grams (about one-sixth of an ounce) or less.

Possession of more than 100 grams of marijuana or more than five grams of hashish would be treated as a fourth degree misdemeanor punishable by a $250 fine and up to 30 days in jail.

As the bill left the House, possession of hashish in any amount was a fourth degree felony and could result in a prison term of up to five years.

Other changes the Senate committee made in the House version included a lessening of mandated, nonprobational prison terms for serious offenders.

'Ivory curtain' descending for India's wealthy group?

The hungry masses don't seem concerned about India's tilt toward totalitarian government, but many in India's educated classes believe an "ivory curtain" is descending to cut them off from each other and the outside world.

"Everyone is petrified. We are becoming a police state," commented a British-educated New Delhi businesswoman, three weeks after Prime Minister Indira Gandhi proclaimed a state of emergency and assumed near-dictatorial powers.

The businesswoman and others interviewed in major Indian cities in the past three weeks cited harsh press censorship, intensified police surveillance and denial of basic rights of assembly and political criticism to back up their fears that freewheeling democracy is dead in India.

"She is instituting a cult of personality, just like Chairman Mao," said an aging widow of an Indian diplomat as she watched the government announcements interrupt "I Love Lucy," her favorite program on India TV.

Mrs. Gandhi's picture is not on billboards in New Delhi, but slogans praising her emergency rule are beginning to take the place of beer ads.

Mrs. Gandhi's critics are drawn not only from the ranks of opposition parties but also from the business and intellectual communities which saw traditional processes of law and order swept away in a few days.

"No one is safe from arrest today," said the descendant of a maharaja who runs a diamond business. "Incurring the displeasure of Mrs. Gandhi means ruin."

Lamb carcass judging held

Dean Stockwell's lamb carcass placed first in the lamb carcass contest Thursday evening at the Fayette County Fair. Results were announced prior to the Junior Fair market lamb sale.

The champion carcass had a score of 113.1 points in a scoring system taking into account the cutability, loin eye areas, and judges' opinions.

Kaufman's Bargain Store bought the carcass for a new record price of $1050 cwt., or a whopping $10.50 a pound for the 48-pound carcass. Stockwell's lamb placed ninth in the live evaluation Monday.

Second place in the contest went to Doug Johnson, Jay Johnson and Steve Coe had the third and fourth place carcasses, respectively, and fifth was Dick Davis.

In all, fifteen carcasses were cut out by Karn's Packing Co. of Columbus, and all of the mutton was graded either choice or good.

Dr. Ned Parrett and Ted Vartorella, Ohio State University, judged the carcasses.

Rose still wearing collar as Reds nip Mets, Seaver

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "I've got to get back on the beam," says Pete Rose, the self-critic who plays third base on "the best Cincinnati team I've ever been on because of all-around talent."

Rose was feeling frustrated. He had gone 0-for-12 in three games with the Mets. But he wasn't feeling down Thursday after the Reds had beaten Tom Seaver 2-1 to take a victory and a 12½-game National League West lead into today's two-night doubleheader against second-place Los Angeles at Cincinnati.

"There is no way in the world they can stop us as long as we play .500 ball," said Manager Sparky Anderson. The Reds are at .653.

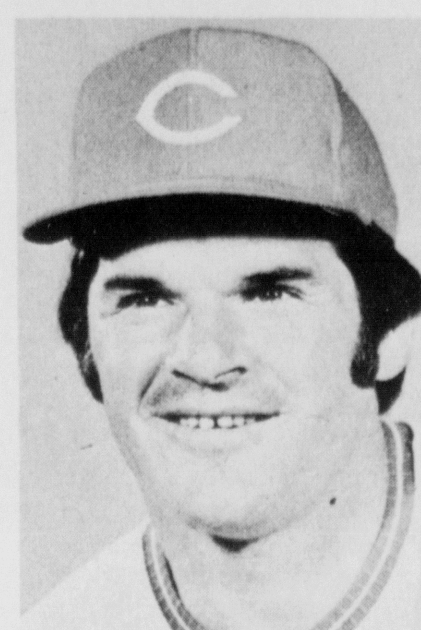

Seaver must be wondering what he has to do to beat the Reds. The tough right-hander gave up just five hits in the six innings he worked, but two of them—with two out in the second inning—drove in the runs that kept him from becoming the major leagues' first 15-game winner this season.

Instead he is 14-6 over-all. And against Cincinnati he's 1-3 this season and 9-16 lifetime. There was some consolation for Seaver, though. He surpassed the 2,000 strikeout mark for his career, only the 27th pitcher in major league history to do so.

"He wasn't himself today," said Rose. "He was a breaking-ball pitcher today. Maybe that was his plan. It worked on us. We only got two runs off him. This was the first time he's put the collar on me (no hits). But I went for the collar all three days. Maybe I put it on myself."

The toughest part of the game for Seaver was throwing and catching the ball. In the first inning, he seemed to pull something in his back on a pitch. In the second, he twisted his right ankle trying to complete a double play at first base. And in the fifth, he was knocked down when he collided with a runner while making a putout at first.

PETE ROSE

The ankle twist proved to be costly. And after it happened, with two men out, he walked Dave Concepcion and gave up run-scoring singles to Cesar Geronimo and pitcher Fred Norman, 6-3. The Cincinnati defense and relief pitching made the lead stand up.

New York got four hits in the fifth inning and failed to score. John Stearns opened with a single but was thrown out by right-fielder Ken Griffey when he tried to go to third on Seaver's single. One out later, Felix Millan singled to left, then Seaver was nailed at the plate by left fielder George Foster when he tried to score on Joe Torre's single.

The Mets loaded the bases with one out in the sixth. Then Will McEnaney relieved Norman and got John Stearns to pop up and pinch-hitter Jerry Grote to ground out. And in the ninth, the Mets put runners at first and third with one out. A run scored on Millan's sacrifice fly—but after Torre beat out an infield hit, Rawley Eastwick relieved McEnaney and got Dave Kingman on strikes.

Do-or-die for Dodgers now?

By BRUCE LOWITT

AP Sports Writer

It's a do-or-die weekend for Walter Alston and the Dodgers.

And while a lot of people seem to feel the Dodgers already have one foot in the coffin and can only step out of it by sweeping four games from Cincinnati this weekend, Alston is as unflappable as ever.

"I feel that we have to win six of our remaining 11 games with the Reds to stand a chance," he blithely announced Thursday. "But no one game is any bigger than another."

Oh, yeah? Try asking his players—like Steve Garvey, for example—and you'll find out differently.

"Until we can get it together against the rest of the teams, it looks like the only way we're going to get close again is in the head-to-head games with Cincinnati," Garvey said. "We need to take this series for more than the obvious reason. Maybe it can help us get our adrenalin going again."

They got it going pretty good on Thursday against St. Louis, routing the Cardinals 8-2. But despite the victory, Los Angeles remained a whopping 12½ games back of the Reds in the National League West going into this evening's two-night doubleheader in Cincinnati.

The Reds retained their lead by beating New York 2-1. In the rest of the league, Atlanta beat Philadelphia 5-4, Houston edged Montreal 6-5 and Chicago defeated San Francisco 4-3. San Diego and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

Braves 5, Phillies 4

Phil Niekro hurled a five-hitter and doubled home Atlanta's winning run in a two-run seventh inning to drop the Phils 4½ games behind idle Pittsburgh in the East Division.

With one out in the seventh, Larvell Blanks singled and Biff Pocoroba doubled to break a 33 tie, then Niekro won the game — chasing Larry Christenson in the process — with his double down the right field line.

Astros 6, Expos 5

Larry Milbourne drilled a two-run triple to highlight a four-run sixth inning that carried the Astros past Montreal. Bob Watson's single, a balk by Steve Renko and an Milt May's hit tied the score 3-3. Then Roger Metzger singled, both runners scored on Milbourne's shot to right-center field and Milbourne came home on Wilbur Howard's single.

Cubs 4, Giants 3

Gene Hiser drove in one run and scored one to lead Chicago past the Giants. The Cubs got two runs in the first inning on a bases-loaded walk and Hiser's sacrifice fly, then Hiser singled in the fourth, triggering a two-run inning with the scoring coming on a single by pitcher Bill Bonham and Don Kessinger's sacrifice fly.

White Sox 4-1, Yankees 3-0

Catcher Brian Downing, the ninth batter in Chicago's lineup, hit his sixth home run of the season, a one-out shot off Dick Tidrow in the 11th inning, to carry Chicago to a dramatic victory over New York in the first game of their doubleheader.

Then Tidrow hit Bill Melton with a pitch with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth inning, forcing in the run that gave the White Sox their victory in the second game.

Orioles 10, Brewers 7

Jim Northrup and Doug DeCinces drilled run-scoring doubles in a four-run sixth inning, triggering Baltimore to its victory over homer-happy Milwaukee. The Brewers blasted five homers, including Hank Aaron's 743rd career shot.

The Orioles were losing 4-2 when a walk to Lee May triggered their winning rally in the sixth. Northrup doubled home May and took third on the relay throw from the outfield. Then he scored on a wild pitch by Pete Broberg.

Tigers 5, A's 2

Joe Coleman and John Hiller combined on a three-hitter, helping Detroit snap a fourgame losing streak with its victory over Oakland.

Coleman, 8-12, worked 62-3 innings and allowed all three Oakland hits before Hiller came in and recorded his 14th save of the season. Detroit hit three sacrifice flies, two by rookie Jack Pierce.

Aluminum bat danger reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission warned today that more than five million aluminum baseball and softball bats sold nationwide during the last seven years may be dangerous if their rubber grips are loose.

One death and at least two serious injuries have been associated with the problem, the agency said.

Consumers were urged to check the rubber grips on aluminum bats immediately and not to use them if the grips are loose, worn, torn or deteriorated.

In such event, the aluminum bat could come loose from the grip or the knob at the end of the grip could tear off when the bat is swung, the commission said.

The death and injuries all reportedly involved youngsters who were struck on the head when the bats and grips separated.

The commission said Eaton Corp. of Cleveland, Ohio, was one bat-grip manufacturer involved.

The bats were sold under the trade names "Easton," "Adirondack," "Wilson," "H. & B. Louisville Slugger," "Reynolds" and "Worth."

Tourney correction

The Medics minor league Babe Ruth team won two games Tuesday — one against Willis and one against Craig's.

The two wins moved the Medics into the league tournament finals with Good Hope.

Dunn doubled for Craig's not the Medics as was reported in Thursday's Record-Herald.

Anderson, Curtis seen even better

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals "bomb threat" — quarterback Ken Anderson and wide receiver Isaac Curtis — already one of the most explosive in pro football, will get even better this year, according to strategists on the club.

The time has come to fully exploit their talents, according to Bill Walsh, quarterback and receivers coach for the Bengals.

"If Isaac can catch 50 passes — and that's our goal — we think he can crack 1,000 yards in receptions," he said.

Curtis has been the primary deep threat for the Bengals ever since the club picked the San Diego State speedster in the first round of the 1973 draft.

"Face it, Isaac is one of the two or three fastest men in pro football, if not the fastest. The guy has tremendous hands and maneuverability," said Walsh.

As a rookie, Curtis caught 45 passes for 843 yards and was selected to the Pro Bowl team as the Bengals won the division championship. Last season he caught the ball 30 times for 633 yards.

"He averaged 21 yards per catch last year and one out of every three passes he catches goes for a touchdown," Walsh said.

Despite the Bengals disappointing 7-7 record last year, Anderson led the entire league in passing and broke virtually every club record. His 64.9 per cent completion rate was the highest in the NFL since Sammy Baugh completed 70 per cent of his passes almost 30 years ago.

Walsh is convinced that the pair have yet to reach their full potential.

"This is really Isaac's first training camp. He sat out most of 1973 with an injured Achilles tendon and missed a month last year due to the strike," he noted.

Hillsboro plans youth tourney

A little league tournament will be held August 9-16 at the Hillsboro City Park.

Entry fee is set at $15 and is to be paid at the tourney drawing on August 2 at the park.

Players will be considered eligible if they are nine years-old before August 1 and not yet 13-years-old before the August deadline.

Birth certificates must be shown before first game is played.

Individual trophies for the top three teams will be awarded.

For more information call Ron Dunlap (513-393-4590) or the park (513-393-9179).

"Right now, he's far more aware of what's happening out there. Ken is improving his ability to stay with Isaac. In the past, Ken has come off Isaac for an alternate receiver when it appeared the secondary was keying toward Isaac." "We're stressing that Ken stay with Isaac until the play develops further," added Walsh.

Curtis, who has run the 100 in 9.3 seconds, said "I'm getting better every year. I'm way ahead of where I was last year at the end of the season."

The 24-year-old Curtis called Anderson "a smart passer. He always knows what he's doing."

This year, he said, "it's easier to avoid defenders, read defenses and adjust my patterns. The experience has made things much easier. Speed is great to have, but you can't live on it forever."

"Defenders have to be thinking whether they can stay with me," he added. "They have to respect me."

Sponge rubber plant force hit by layoffs after blast

SHELTON, Conn. (AP) — Henry Baer is one of 500 some people who depended on Sponge Rubber Products Co. for a living.

Like the rest Baer, the plant's general manager, is waiting for word about the future of the plant, ripped by explosions March 1 in the biggest arson case in FBI's history.

The financially-plagued company lost its largest Connecticut plant, in Shelton, when the dynamite explosions and fire destroyed it, resulting in $10 million damage.

Ten men were charged in federal indictments with arson and conspiracy, including Charles D. Moeller of Cridersville, Ohio. He is president of Sponge Rubber's parent firm, Grand Sheet Metal Products Co. of Melrose Park, Ill.

About 300 workers lost their jobs after the disaster.

An estimated 540 others from the remaining plants were issued their final pay checks Monday when they were laid off indefinitely. Some did not find out about the shutdown until they showed up for work. Others had read about plans to close in the newspapers over the weekend.

The layoffs didn't spell financial disaster for this section of Naugatuck Valley, already hit by high unemployment because of failing industry. But they did boost the percentage of jobless to 16.1, according to the state Labor Department. That's the highest for any market in the state.

The department says there is a work force of 40,000 in Ansonia, Derby, Oxford, Seymour and Shelton.

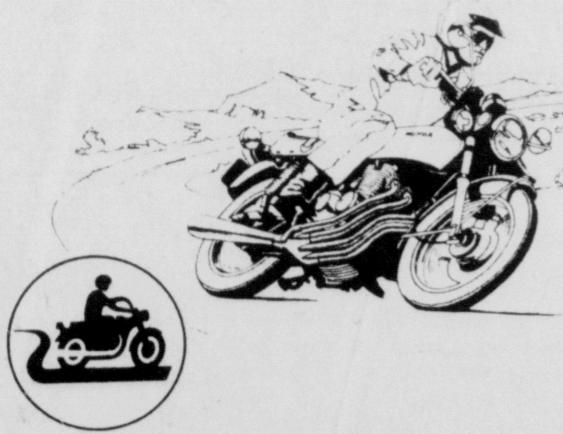

As of Wednesday, 385 of Sponge Rubber's recent unemployed had applied for jobless benefits at the Ansonia office. Perhaps 35 to 40 others had filed in the New Haven and Bridgeport offices, the Labor Department said.

GET UP AND GET AWAY.

HERALD

At Junior Fair sale

Champion lamb brings $700 cwt.

The Junior Fair market lamb sale established some new records Thursday night at the 1975 Fayette County Fair.

Cindi Grover's lamb, named "Long Ears", was the first to be sold and it went for $700 cwt., or $7 a pound. That, however, was not a record, as it failed to surpass the price of $860 cwt. paid a year ago.

Doug Johnson's reserve champion, weighing in at 100 pounds, sold for $335 cwt. This, also, was off last year's record-setting pace of $700 cwt.

Tom McNew of Pure Plaza, U.S. 35 and I-71, purchased the 115-pound grand champion for a total price of $805 and Johnson's reserve lamb went to First Federal Savings and Loan Association for $335.

The 48-pound champion carcass, exhibited by Dean Stockwell, was sold by auctioneer Merlin Woodruff of Urbana for a whopping $1050 cwt. to Kaufman's Bargain Store for a total of $504. The $1,050 cwt. shattered the previous record for a champion carcass.

The grand champion pen of three market lambs, also exhibited by Cindi Grover, were sold individually. One in pen was the grand champion and the other two sold for record prices. Antoinette's Beauty Salon purchased one for $235 cwt. and Landmark bought the other one for $225 cwt.

The 85-pound first place lamb in the 85 pound and under class, shown by Debbie Highfield, was sold for a record $185 cwt. to Carroll Halliday, Inc.

Gary Conn's 90-pound lamb, which took first placing in the 90-95 pound division, brought another record price of $175 cwt. Ora Burdge of New Holland Enterprises was the successful bidder.

Another record was shattered in the 110-pounds and over class. The lamb which took first place in that division, exhibited by Betsy Hartman, was purchased by Krieger Equipment Co. for $160 cwt.

The 120-pound runnerup lamb in the 110-pound and over class, shown by Jay Bloomer, brought $130 cwt. from Willis Insurance.

All the second-place lambs set new record prices.

The other second place lambs were exhibited by John and Lisa Melvin. They were purchased by Roller Haven for $125 cwt. and Greenline Equipment Co. for $150 cwt.

There were 227 lambs sold, not including the grand champion carcass, covering approximately 11 tons of mutton on the hoof. The average price for the lambs was $96.34 cwt. edging the record of $96 cwt. or $96 per pound. There were 142 single lambs sold Thursday night averaging $122 cwt. or $1.22 a pound.

Results of the entire market lamb sale will be carried in Saturday's edition of the Record-Herald.

Lamb sale, tractor pull attract 4,504 persons

County fair approaching end of week-long run

By MARK REA

Almost every record that was ever established at a Fayette County Fair market lamb sale in the Junior Fair division was broken as the Fair approached the end of its week-long run.

Ironically, the only two top lambs who did not bring record prices were the grand champion and the reserve grand champion.

Cindi Grover's grand champion lamb sold for $700 cwt., behind the record set just last year at $860 cwt.

Tom McNew, of Pure Plaza Restaurant, purchased the 115 pound lamb to kickoff the lamb sale in the sales arena.

The reserve champion, raised by Doug Johnson, also fell short of a record price. First Federal Savings and Loan Association paid $335 cwt. for the second best lamb in the show. Last year, the reserve champ sold for $700 cwt.

In front of the grandstand, people came from miles away to witness the second annual tractor pull at the Fair. Five winners were to be announced in five different divisions. As with evident with the large crowd, the tractor pull was, again, a huge success.

Aside from the high humidity, the Fair's weather has been ideal for the first five days, but the rain may still make an appearance. The good weather, coupled with the tractor pull and the lamb sale, lured 4,504 people through the gates after 4 p.m. This places the Fair's attendance at 15,365 for 1975.

A total of 228 sheep were sold at the second of three market livestock auctions bringing an average of over $96 cwt., edging last year's record-setting average.

Beth Jenks continued to clean house in the Junior Fair livestock shows. Two days ago, her Hamp-Duroc cross barrow was named grand champion of the hog show. Thursday, she added the grand champion steer trophy to her growing collection with her European crossbred calf. It will be the first sold at auction at 6 p.m. Friday in the final livestock auction. Merlin Woodruff of Urbana, will once again be the auctioneer.

The Posey Garden Club won the sweepstakes in the flower arranging show judged Thursday afternoon. The

Elevator operators say about wheat sale

'It's about time'

By GEORGE MALEK

While opinions on the sale of several million tons of wheat to the Soviet Union vary greatly throughout the country, elevator operators in Fayette County are saying in a single voice, "It's about time."

While the critics claim that the sale of more than five million tons of wheat to Russia has nearly doubled the wholesale price of the grain, local operators say that that is just enough for the farmer to make a decent living.

"The whole thing has been blown way out of proportion because farmers are a minority group," said Otis Hockman of the Hockman Grain Co., Bloomington. "He says it boils down to the fact that more people buy wheat than grow it. The general public sees any increase as bad, but that just isn't so," Hockman added.

With the U.S. crop so much larger this year than last, the price per bushel was down in the $2.60, to $2.70 range at the end of June. "That was $1.50 lower than last year, and much too low for the farmer to realize any profit," he said. With the cost of seed and fertilizer where they are, $2.60 barely covered the costs of growing the wheat, Hockman explained.

He went on to say that all the headlines concerning the grain deal stem from the "game of politics." Hockman cited an article in the Wall Street Journal which quoted James V. Stanton, Democratic representative to the U.S. Congress from Cleveland, as labeling the sale as the "Great Grain Robbery, Part II." "That is just a political maneuver to add votes in his district," Hockman cautioned.

He said most Cleveland residents are much more interested in the price of bread than whether or not the farmer feeds his family.

On a national level, Hockman pointed out that the sales help lower the American balance of trade which is vital to the U.S. position in the world market. "We have to export something to balance all that we import, and the price of that commodity will rise," Hockman said.

He was not only glad to see the wheat exported, but added that America had better export some corn pretty soon. "Corn is headed toward the $1.50 level, and unless that price is upped, the farmer will really be stung," he concluded.

Clarence Cooper, manager of the Landmark elevator operation in Washington C. H., echoed the same sentiments. He felt the 3.5 million tons of wheat sold by Cook Industries Inc., of Memphis, Tenn., and the 1.2 million tons sold by Cargill Inc., of Minneapolis, Minn., were largely American surplus which had been driving down the price of wheat. The amount of wheat brought to the elevator this year by Fayette County

EPA chief sees more hikes

Consumer electricity costs rise 30 per cent in year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price Americans paid for electricity jumped 30 per cent last year due primarily to higher fuel costs, according to a report from the Environmental Protection Agency.

The EPA authorized the study to determine how much of an effect anti-pollution measures were having on electricity costs, and reported these only accounted for 5 per cent of the increase.

However, EPA Administrator Russell E. Train noted that "increases attributable to environmental regulations may increase over the next five years as the utilities phase in capital expenditures for pollution control."

The report, released Thursday, said that "1974 saw an unprecedented increase in the cost of electricity." It estimated that total revenues of the electric industry totaled $40 billion during the year, an increase of $9 billion over 1973.

Thus, for the average American, the price of one kilowatt hour of electricity rose from 1.97 cents to 2.57 cents, the study said.

The report said that on average electricity rates increased 23 per cent for residential customers and 33 per cent for commercial and industrial users of electricity to make the average 30 per cent.

"Consumers along both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts were the most seriously affected by the higher rates, the report said. And "New England and the Middle Atlantic regions, which historically have had the highest electric rates, also had the highest rates of increase during the last year."

The report said fuel prices accounted for 60 per cent of the higher electricity costs. Nonfuel electricity costs increased only 16.8 per cent during the year, with the largest factor in this category the rising interest rates on borrowed money, the report said.

Fuel-switching from high sulfur to low sulfur coal and oil, and coal-to-oil and coal-to-gas conversions of generating plants accounted for only 2.5 per cent of the higher costs, the report said. In addition, the report estimated that about 8 per cent of utilities' capital expenditures were attributable to environmental factors.

The report was prepared for EPA by the independent research firm of Temple, Barker and Sloane, Inc.

Coffee Break . .

WE'VE ALL HEARD the expression about spectators in some sporting events "being in the dark" about decisions that are sometimes made on the playing field.

That was the case at the Junior Fair dog show Thursday night when not only the spectators but all the judges and the contestants were "in the dark" due to the absence of lights in the Junior Fair activities tent. . . . The lights were for some reason removed earlier Thursday and the final stages of the dog show were held under near dark conditions, making both judging and showing much more difficult. . . . A similar problem also plagued the dog show last year. . . . Although not one of the more "glamorous" fair events, the youngsters who worked many hours training their dogs for this event at least deserve proper conditions to display their dog's talents. . . .

We wonder what would happen if a beef or hog show would have to be conducted under these conditions. . . .

THE LAST session of swimming classes at the Washington Park Association pool, 110 W. Oakland Ave., will begin Monday, July 28, according to pool manager Bob Bane. . . .

Registration can be completed when the classes start. . . . The lessons will last four weeks (Monday through Friday) and each class period will be 30 minutes in length. . . . The classes will end Aug. 22. . . .

Pre-school children cannot be accepted for lessons. . . . Three classes have been added to the previous schedule of lessons. . . .

Life saving classes will end Saturday and the pool season will close on Labor Day, Sept. 1, according to Bane. . . .

Ulcer calmed by $300,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— One of the things David V. Morgan can look forward to after having won the Ohio Lottery's $300,000 prize Thursday night is less ice cream and milk.

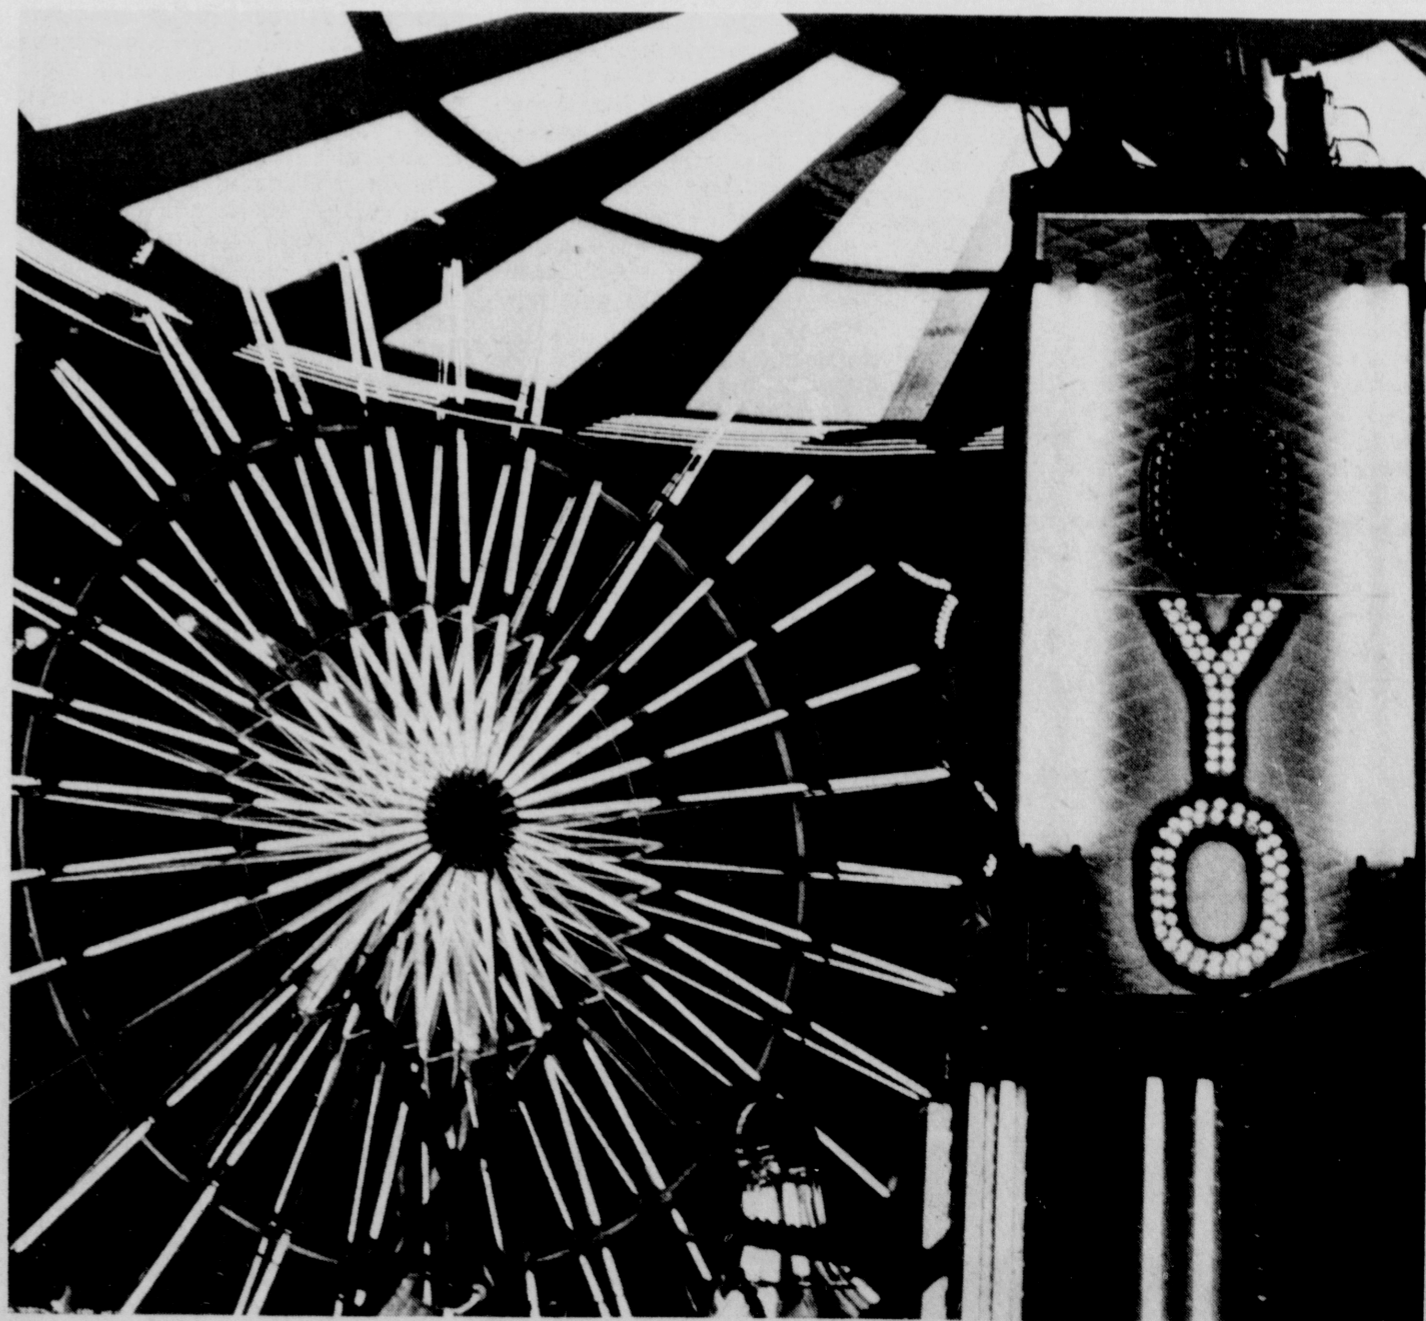

Morgan, 38, was so nervous about being a contestant on the Lottery that he gained two pounds eating ice cream and drinking milk to soothe his ulcer.

Morgan of Oregon, a suburb of Toledo, said he plans to use the money to pay the mortgage on his house. He and his wife also plan to visit relatives in Texas and Tennessee. Morgan, a machine operator with the Houghton Elevator and Escalators Co., said he plans to keep his job.

The two $30,000 prize winners were Mat Kom of Cleveland and Ruth W. Moeller of Cincinnati.

The remaining prizes of $15,000 each were won by Ralph T. Bambino of Cleveland, Evelyn M. Postlewait of Canton, John G. Vogrin of Youngstown and Robert L. Smith of Perrysburg. —

LIGHT DISPLAY — The circles, lines and abstract patterns made by the flashing, constantly moving lights of the midway rides add to the excitement and thrill of the Fayette County Fair. The Fair is now in its final two days with a demolition derby scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights and the Junior Fair beef sale set for 6 p.m. Friday. (Ed Summers photo)

Spacemen rest after whiff of gas

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The three Apollo astronauts detected a yellow gas that "caused burning and irritation in the eyes" during their return to earth Thursday and remained in sick bay on this ship today as a precaution.

Doctors said a preliminary examination of astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Vance D. Brand and Donald K. Slayton "does not show any apparent medical problems" and the sick bay confinement was called "a precautionary measure."

This Navy carrier headed for Hawaii, meanwhile, bringing the astronauts to their first landfall since they hurtled away from earth 10 days ago to establish a beachhead in space with the Russians.

The astronauts told flight surgeons they detected the gas after their Apollo craft was parachuting toward a Pacific Ocean splashdown. They immediately donned oxygen masks, but the gas "caused burning and irritation in the eyes."

Officials said the gas was apparently nitrogen tetroxide, an oxidizer used in the propellant of the Apollo's small rocket thrusters. The chemical is very corrosive and can cause death if inhaled in sufficient concentration.

The men of Apollo splashed down 330 miles west of Pearl Harbor. This helicopter carrier is expected to arrive at Pearl Harbor about 3:15 p.m. EDT today.

One of the Navy swimmers who leaped in the ocean beside the spacecraft moments after splashdown said the astronauts pushed open a hatch from the inside.

"They said they wanted to get some fresh air as soon as possible," said Lt. Thomas Kleehammer, head of the frogman team.

Normally, the Apollo hatch is not opened until after the craft has been placed aboard the recovery ship.

Their sick bay confinement forced the astronauts to miss an evening of shipboard festivities. They had been scheduled to attend a steak and lobster dinner and to cut a cake decorated with the Apollo-Soyuz flight patch.

Stafford, Slayton and Brand showed little evidence of the gas problem during brief welcoming ceremonies just after their spacecraft was hoisted on board.

All three delivered short remarks and appeared to walk with ease.

They appeared haggard, but observers credited this to exhaustion from their nine-day space trip. Brand, at one point during the ceremonies, was seen to rub his face.

Doctors first learned of the gas problem when the astronauts told of it in the ship's sick bay. The physicians canceled plans for a thorough physical examination and sent them to bed immediately.

The astronauts will leave Pearl Harbor by jet transport early Saturday morning and arrive in Houston about 10 a.m. EDT for a reunion with their families.

It will be at least another four years before U.S. astronauts again fly into space. They'll go again when a reusable rocket ship, the Space Shuttle, is ready.

As the astronauts rode the New Orleans toward a docking in Pearl Harbor later today, the leaders of the United States and Soviet Union hailed the success of Apollo-Soyuz and spoke of future cooperative space ventures by the two nations.

The cosmonauts, Alexei Leonov and Valeri Kubasov, returned to earth Monday after two days of joint flight with the Americans. They, too, sent their congratulations to Stafford, Brand and Slayton.

President Ford telephoned the astronauts minutes after they were recovered with his congratulations.

Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev messaged Ford that the flight was "an important milestone in cooperation between the USSR and the USA in exploration and use of outer space for peaceful purposes." He said it "lays a foundation for possible subsequent Soviet U.S. projects in this field."

Stock list goes down

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market lapsed into another decline today amid continued edginess over the interest rate outlook.

The noon Down Jones average of 30 industrials was down 5.16 at 835.11, and losers took a slight lead over gainers after trailing by more than a 2-1 margin earlier on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said continued rapid rate in the growth of the money supply as shown in weekly Federal Reserve figures issued late Thursday had rekindled fears that the Fed would be prompted to take further steps to restrict credit and thus push interest rates higher.

General Foods was the most active issue on the Big Board, down 3/4 at 24 1/4. A 58,200-share block traded at 25.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index dipped .07 to 91.50.

Trading was relatively light. The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .32 at 47.95.

Malpractice bill sent to governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Insurance Director Harry V. Jump says he is ready to move immediately to implement Ohio's new medical malpractice law, as soon as it is signed by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Jump referred Thursday to a section in the newly approved bill that sets up a Joint Underwriting Association (JUA) to provide last resort malpractice insurance for physicians and hospitals—a growing problem that has threatened Ohioans' health care.

The director said he already has taken preliminary steps to set up the assigned risk pool, provided for in the major bill which won final approval in the Senate and House earlier Thursday.

Passage came as the Senate voted 31-0 and the House 94-1 on a report of a six-member joint conference committee that worked out differences between the two chambers.

Rep. Robert W. Jaskulski, D-11 Cleveland, cast the only negative vote. The Cuyahoga County lawmaker called it "special interest" legislation aimed only at the problems "of a few people."

Conferees on the immediately effective emergency bill agreed unanimously Thursday morning after they resolved two major issues—limits on attorney fees in malpractice cases and a scheme that would require malpractice claimants to deduct certain privately gained payments from jury awards or out-of-court settlements.

The impasse was resolved with provisions that leave attorney fees up to the Ohio Supreme Court, with a "recommendation" that they should not be more than one-third of a monetary settlement or award, and with language that says private insurance benefits would not have to be deducted from settlements. The bill does require deductions payments from any other source, however, said Rep. William E. Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia, chairman of the Senate-House panel.

Under the bill, the JUA's assigned risk pool—with all the state's liability insurers participating—would take those physicians and hospitals who are unable to find malpractice insurance in the private market.

They would get insurance at "reasonable" rates, but only in the next few years while reforms aimed at eliminating the cause of the problem are carried out.

Major bills face Ohio House vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new way to provide basic state aid to public schools, open government meetings and an increase in Workmen's Compensation benefits face critical votes today in the Ohio House.

The highly controversial equal yield school bill was voted out of the House Finance Committee 12-10 Thursday after a frustrating two months that saw the plan virtually rewritten.

The bill almost hit a last minute snag when two Democratic committee members passed on the roll call, leaving supporters one short of the 12 votes required to recommend floor action. However Rep. William E. Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia, had a change of heart during an impromptu closed door meeting and changed his vote to "yes."

Extensive debate was expected today on the Senate-approved bill, but House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, predicted it would pass with Republican support.

A nonpartisan floor battle was also anticipated on the so-called "sunshine bill" that would require state and local public agencies to open business meetings to the public.

The Senate bill would eliminate "executive sessions" by which public bodies often meet in private.

It would give the public the right to take court action to open closed meetings and provide misdemeanor penalties or even removal from office for officials who refuse to comply.

The bill, nicknamed after pioneer Florida open meeting statutes, outlines a number of exceptions, including meetings of the state Ethics Commission, the parole board, meetings involving security and personnel actions, political party caucuses, and collective bargaining.

The Workmen's Compensation increase, a high priority item among majority Democrats, apparently has been agreed to by Republicans. It was reported out of committee by a 12-0 vote Wednesday.

It would raise workmen's compensation benefits from two-thirds of the statewide average weekly wage to the full state average. That level is based on the salaries of all workers covered by unemployment benefits.

Two-thirds of the 1975 average is $119 weekly.

The school bill was brought to the brink of defeat in committee by the insertion of an amendment that would require the attendance of more than 50 per cent of the teachers for a school to remain open.

"We're playing hardball politics," Rep. Ben Rose, R-64 Lima said after all nine Republican committee members voted against recommending the measure. "That (teachers amendment) put this bill in jeopardy."

Rep. George D. Tablack, D-52 Campbell, the lone Democrat to vote "no," said he objected to several features.

Under equal yield funding, each Ohio school district would be guaranteed the same return of state and local dollars combined for each mill of tax levied locally.

The intent is to reward districts with lower tax bases that make efforts to provide funds for their schools.

The committee approved amendments to channel extra money to districts with high percentages of pupils from Aid to Dependent Children families.

The following districts would receive an additional $10 per pupil as a result of the ADC amendment: Toledo, Youngstown, Columbus, Portsmouth, New Boston, Steubenville, Akron, Western (Pike County) and Rock Hill (Lawrence).

Canton, and Valley and Bloom in Scioto County, would receive an extra $7.50 per pupil under the same provision.

A separate amendment grants an additional $7.50 per pupil to five other districts which have more than 600 ADC pupils, but fall below minimum level for extra funding: Southwestern (Grove City) Xenia, Fairborn, Princeton and Elyria.

Finance members also voted to: —guarantee that no district would get less money during the second year of the new program than it currently receives.

—provide increased state funds during the same year tax levies are approved increasing local millage, rather than a year to 18 months later, the current norm.

—disband the joint Education Review Committee, which drafted the equal yield plan late last year.

—Transfer $10 million from basic aid to increase funding for programs for handicapped children.

Potential hurricane develops off Florida

By The Associated Press

Near hurricane-force winds have battered Tucson, Ariz., and the second tropical depression — a potential hurricane — has developed off the Florida coast.

Elsewhere, heavy rains and thunder and lightning struck in widely scattered parts of the nation Thursday, injuring a group of children in upstate New York and killing livestock in North Carolina.

In the Midwest a large high pressure system brought cooler and drier air to the northern half of the Plains into the Northern Rockies. A cold front dropped temperatures along the Pacific Northwest coast while readings in the Southwest continued slightly higher.

Conflict within LEAA

The bureaucratic war raging within the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration has been in progress far too long. It appears to be having an adverse effect on the agency's performance. The administration should act firmly to end the infighting and get on with the business of fighting crime.

A move has been made in this direction. Deputy Attorney General Harold R. Tyler Jr. reportedly is trying to stop the battle between opposing factions. There is some question, however, whether he wields sufficient authority to deal with the matter quickly. If this is the case, more effective steps should be taken without delay. The long-standing dispute over how much the agency should spend on law enforcement hardware and how much on other aspects of the program ought to be resolved, if possible, before congressional hearings being this fall on whether to extend LEAA for another five years.

Amendment remains in peril

When the Supreme Court, in 1971, freed the New York Times and the Washington Post to continue publication of the so-called Pentagon Papers, it presumably created a controlling precedent. Nobody, so the Court said in effect, had any business tampering with the First Amendment unless it was obvious that a danger to national security was involved.

Daniel Ellsberg might be guilty as hell of violating his own secrecy oath, but editors who had never signed a pledge were not bound by it.

If the First Amendment means what it says, that Congress shall pass no law whatsoever infringing Freedom of the Press, and if the Supreme Court has spoken once and for all, one would suppose that we would be hearing less and less about such matters as "prior restraint," or court gag orders barring the press from trials, or subpoenas to reporters to divulge their confidential news sources to prosecution or defense attorneys who are incapable of doing their own work. Such, however, is not the case.

The truth is that gag orders and prior restraint injunctions and subpoenas have been flourishing like a whole forest of green bay trees. And, to cap what has become a most menacing movement against taking the First Amendment at its word, a bipartisan coalition in the U.S. Senate, led by such worthies as Mike Mansfield, Hugh Scott, Roman Hruska, Birch Bayh and

Jim Eastland, has been backing an "official secrets act" bill that would subject newspapers to automatic criminal prosecution for publishing any information not officially released by a government agency.

Though the Ford Administration has backed the bill, it will probably not be cleared for action during this session of Congress. Nevertheless, it shows the way the wind is blowing. Some time ago a few concerned reporters led by Jack Landau of the Newhouse Newspapers, Lyle Denniston of the Washington Star-News and Eileen Shanahan of the New York Times formed a Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press. The Committee has worked without funds, depending on ad hoc donations of time and legal expertise, but it has had surprising voluntary support throughout the country. Its "FYI — Media Alert," published on a bi-monthly basis, offers the most disquieting sort of information compiled from court activities practically everywhere in 50 states.

Thus, on the matter of "prior restraint," we find a San Diego Court barring a reporter from engaging in journalistic activities while he is on probation for a marijuana rap, and another judge suspending the showing of the anti-Vietnam War film "Hearts and Minds" for 23 days.

Then there was Jimmy Cagney's effort to stop publication of an unauthorized biography, and the various government proceedings to halt the distribution of books critical of the CIA.

A Port Chester, New York, editor has claimed harassment for publishing his stories of vandalism and an alleged lack of police protection in the black section of his town. A Tucson TV reporter has protested against intimidating telephone calls for "sticking" her nose "into areas where it doesn't belong."

The lower courts do not, of course, manage to sustain all their gags and subpoenas, but the menace to the First Amendment remains a lively one. Hence the decision of the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press to set up a Legal Defense and Research Fund, with a concomitant campaign to raise $2 million to help pay the costs of providing the information and legal aid needed to support journalists who would, among other things, protect their sources. Arthur R. Taylor, president of Columbia Broadcasting System, will head the drive for the next two years.

Ironically, Mr. Taylor's CBS, which has to submit to the Fairness Rules, does not get the benefit of the First Amendment. Sen. Roman Hruska, with his bill entitled "The Act for Restoration of Broadcasters' First Amendment Rights," would change all this. But, another irony, Hruska is one of the sponsors of the "Official Secrets Act" bill which would take First Amendment protection away from anybody printing anything from a classified government document.

When individual Senators can be so unclear about the First Amendment, it is no wonder that prior restraint and gag rules flourish all over the place down in the sticks.

State cash flow precarious

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' November bond issues would do nothing to help improve Ohio's precarious cash flow situation for about a year, concedes Howard L. Collier, state budget and management director.

Collier, appearing before the Senate Finance Committee in connection with his own appointment by Rhodes, said the earliest help could not come before late 1976.

"We're talking about the second year of the 1975-1976 biennium," Collier told the committee.

The second year of the two-year bookkeeping period starts July 1, 1976.

Finance Chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, said he was disturbed that members of the Rhodes cabinet, who are helping campaign for the bond issues' adoption on the November ballot, "are going around the state saying the four issues will solve all our economic problems."

"That's a terrible fallacy," he said. He asked Collier, "Isn't it true, if all the proposals were approved tomorrow, it would be at least a year before the state could derive any money from the bond issues?"

"Yes," replied Collier. He added that he had become frustrated with some department heads who had pressured the legislature for more money in the budget bill, knowing it would not be possible to grant their requests with existing state revenues.

Rhodes' package includes capital improvement and transportation bond issues totaling about $4.3 billion. Bonds sold under these issues would be paid off with slight increases in the state gasoline and sales taxes, in each case less than one penny.

Republicans who controlled both houses of the Ohio General Assembly for years are showing signs of getting accustomed to being in the minority again.

Veteran Rep. Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, introduced a series of amendments to a medical malpractice bill. He listened as the roll was called on his latest proposal, with Republicans still on the losing side.

"Mr. Chairman, after that monumental show of power, that's the last of my amendments," he told Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-6 Dayton, chairman of the Elections, Financial Institutions and Insurance Committee.

Democrats experienced similar frustrations when the GOP ran both houses of the legislature throughout the 1960s and into the early 1970s. They reclaimed the Senate only this year.

Rep. Gene Damschroder, R-85 Fremont, thinks he has found a way to make his colleagues in the legislature more cost-conscious.

He has introduced a bill calling for a 2 per cent pay cut for each legislator, if the General Assembly spends more money this year than in 1974. Legislators are paid $17,500 a year.

If they spend less money this year, Damschroder's bill proposes a 1 per cent bonus for the lawmakers.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

Flat 14 year old needs development plan and padding

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 14-year-old girl. My problem is that I am flat and most boys go for built-up chicks. I know you are going to say, "Wear padded bras," but where will that get me?

I eat everything that is good for me. Fresh fruit, and vegetables and milk, but it all goes to my stomach, thighs and butt.

I am always cut down because I'm flat. I have to wear children's clothes because I have a 30AA bust and my hips are 31½. I am 5'1" and weigh 95 pounds.

I see stuff advertised in magazines, but I haven't sent for any because, in the first place, I don't see how creams can put inches on your bust, and in the second, my Mom opens all the mail. She would kill me if she knew I was even thinking about anything like that.

Please be a friend and put your answer in the paper. There must be at least a million girls with my problem.

FLAT

DEAR FLAT: You are a very wise girl to wonder how creams could put inches on you. They can't. Be patient. And I AM going to tell you to wear a padded bra. At least you will look better in clothes.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law runs her house without any schedule or system. She is 31 and so is her husband. Their children are 2 and 4.

They eat when they're hungry and go to sleep when they're tired.

I told them nicely that they should get some kind of schedule, but they paid no attention to me. I also sent them a book on basic child care and nutrition, but I haven't seen any signs of their having read it.

She puts off the housekeeping chores that almost every homemaker does routinely. She just plays with the children and dresses them like dolls, forgetting that balanced meals and a set of routine are important to good health.

Please tell me what to do. My nerves get shot every time I go over there and see what is going on.

MOTHER-IN-LAW

DEAR MOTHER-IN-LAW: Be kind to yourself, and don't go over there so often if it upsets you. If your son isn't aware that his wife needs straightening out, let it go. You've done all you can.

DEAR ABBY: About the woman who was "fuming" because her teenage daughter got her ears pierced while she was away for the weekend, knowing that she wouldn't have approved:

I am the proud father of two clean-cut-looking BOYS, ages 17 and 18. Each one wears a round gold ring through his left pierced ear.

This doesn't bother me. I view it as a sign of the times, and the possible revival of the days when it was customary for males to wear earrings.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, July 25, the 206th day of 1975. There are 159 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1963, the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain signed a treaty prohibiting nuclear testing in the atmosphere, in space and under water.

On this date:
In 1799, Napoleon Bonaparte defeated the Turks in a battle in Egypt.

In 1878, the first Chinese diplomatic mission to the United States arrived in Washington.

In 1934, Adolf Hitler staged an unsuccessful attempt to take over Austria. Troops of the Nazi Black Guard assassinated Austrian Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

In 1952, Puerto Rico became a self-governing commonwealth of the United States.

In 1956, the Italian liner, "Andrea Doria," and a Swedish ship, the "Stockholm," collided off the New England coast. The Andrea Doria sank, with a loss of 50 lives.

In 1957, the French National Assembly voted to grant independence to Tunisia.

Ten years ago: Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York removed himself from consideration for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1968.

Five years ago: South Vietnamese troops were attacking Communist forces in southeastern Cambodia.

One year ago: President Richard Nixon, speaking before a group of businessmen in Los Angeles, appealed to the American people to spend less money, as part of a program to curb inflation.

Today's birthdays: Democratic Senator Frank Church of Idaho is 51 years old. Longhoreman and writer Eric Hoffer is 73.

Thought for today: A handful of common sense is worth a bushel of learning — Spanish proverb.

Bicentennial footnote: It was 200 years ago today that the official report of the Revolutionary War Battle of Bunker Hill reached London. The report said the battle was a victory for the British, but had been won dearly.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, JULY 26

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

There may be fewer gains now but, conversely, also fewer pitfalls; be on the lookout for both, however. A good day for meetings, agreements involving future projects.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

If you have a tight schedule, a deadline to meet, it will be especially important to keep calm. And DO appraise situations carefully before acting. Business matters need extra vigilance.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Avoid activities, ideas or people who are not worthwhile. Temptation sometimes comes in odd garb, so use a careful but not entirely suspicious yardstick.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

You can choose activities from several areas now, but stay within reasonable boundaries. Stellar influences, fairly auspicious, stimulate your creative leanings.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

You should do especially well now in projects which require careful organization, clever management. Don't let opposition dissuade you.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

If careful to guard against impulsive acts and words, the day should be generally smooth. Gains indicated from past efforts.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Think "big" and aim for top achievement. This is no day for pessimism. Concentrate on essentials, and don't overlook even the smallest of your opportunities.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Opposition from unexpected sources should not disrupt routine or plans previously made. Accept all challenges with your innate sturdiness and ability.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Be careful not to provoke others in business or social gatherings. You may detect flaws in the reasoning of some, but speak sparingly — and only where it will HELP.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Stand pat on decisions which have been carefully made. Resist temptations to "forget" promises, make spur-of-the-moment changes. Some good news in the offing.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Your active mind needs expression now. Direct it with forethought and discernment. Review investments, future plans. Changes may soon be required.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Aspects fairly generous. Past good work should bring rewards now. In making plans, have alternatives ready.

YOU BORN TODAY are one of the most versatile of all Leoties. There is practically no field in which, properly trained, of course, you could not make an outstanding success. You are highly creative and could excel at writing, painting or sculpture (working in metal or bronze, especially). The stage would also be an excellent outlet for your talents as would be the law or politics. In the legal field your sense of the dramatic would make you an outstanding trial lawyer. Traits to curb: arrogance, overaggressiveness.

Polytheism increasing in America

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The "gods" are multiplying in America. In contrast to the traditional monotheistic view of one universal God recognized through events of Jewish-Christian history, there is a rising, mixed polytheism.
That is a conclusion drawn these days by numerous religious and social analysts.
It's apparent "in the proliferation of cults," says Dr. Robert Ellwood, a religious sociologist at the University of Southern California and a specialist on new religions in modern culture. "Withdrawal groups," he calls them.

He says they diverge from historic concepts of "churchtype groups oriented to normative values of society and family. In the cults, stronger group cohesiveness takes the place of the family and very authoritative leaders take the place of the father."
Dr. Walter Martin, a professor at the Meloyland School of Theology here, says the cults have "become very powerful in the United States" and display a "semantic jungle" of religious terms and ideas about divinity.
"The problem in dealing with cults is that words undergo redefinition," he says. "This makes for multifarious definitions of God, a kind of pantheism or polytheistic theology that does not bear any relation to historic religion."

David L. Miller, associate professor of religion at Syracuse University, sees evidence of the shift in current "interest in the occult, in magic, in extraterrestrial life, in Hindu India and Buddhist Japan, in multi-demoned China, in sorcery, in 'new religions' and many other meaning systems hitherto foreign."
College students now demand "massive and total access to all the gods of men, Eastern and Western, primitive and modern, heretical and orthodox, mad and sane," he writes in a book recently issued by Harper and Row, called "The New Polytheism: Rebirth of the Gods and Goddesses."
Citing ancient cultural roots of American democracy, he says, "The gods and goddesses of Greece are our heritage. Sooner or later, it is they who will return."

Some scholars suggest there are contemporary tendencies toward conditions of ancient Rome, when minority Judaism and fledgling Christianity were part of a scene dominated by the official Roman pantheon of gods.
Ellwood and Martin, who spoke here at a recent annual meeting of the Religion Newswriters Association, including news reporters of religion from across the country, noted the rapid growth of various closely communal cults.

Martin, author of "The Kingdom of the Cults" recently issued by Bethany Press, noted that Jesus predicted a rise of false "Christs" and "gods" as the world moved toward its consummation. Martin added: "The massive proliferation of cults would indicate we're in that age."

Wheat awarded church grant

Douglas Wheat, 18, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Wheat of 220 N. Hinde St., has been selected as a 1975 recipient of the National Presbyterian College Scholarship, sponsored by the United Presbyterian Churches in the United States.

Wheat, who will be attending Muskingum College this fall in New Concord as a freshman, was one of 81 seniors from 27 states who received the scholarships to enter colleges related to the denomination. He was awarded a $1,400 scholarship.

The scholarships are funded from the Vocational Agency of the United Presbyterian Church and the particular college the student plans to attend. The amount of each scholarship was determined on the basis of financial need, following the college scholarship service system used by most United Presbyterian colleges and the Vocation Agency. The scholarships are renewable.

Other United Presbyterians who will be high school seniors or hold a general equivalency diploma and plan to attend a United Presbyterian-related college, may obtain application procedures from the National Presbyterian College Scholarships. ## Church groups, missionaries said infiltrated by CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA regularly infiltrated church groups and missionaries working abroad and once had a South Vietnamese Catholic bishop on its payroll, a former State Department intelligence specialist says.

The bishop, who headed a diocese outside of Saigon, was on the agency's payroll as recently as 1971 and a CIA "case officer" would fly in from Saigon for secret meetings with him, according to John Marks, the former State Department specialist.
Marks is director of a research project for the Center for National Security Studies, a private group frequently critical of the CIA.

In a study of the agency's relationships with church groups, Marks says: "Congressional and executive pressure has forced the CIA to maintain a hands-off stance toward a few groups like Peace Corps volunteers and Fulbright scholars, but religious organizations have never been treated by the agency with such deference."

A spokesman for the Senate panel probing the CIA said the committee is looking into the CIA's relationships with missionaries.

Marks' study says an unidentified Protestant missionary in Bolivia made regular intelligence reports to the CIA "as a patriotic duty and not for pay." The missionary was said to be "knowledgeable about the Communist party and had all sorts of information about unions and farmers' cooperatives."

Marks said another Protestant missionary in Bolivia periodically passed on names of Bolivians he thought were Communists to U.S. embassy officials, whom he assumed were with the CIA.

Marks' study also said a Belgian Jesuit, the Rev. Roger Vekemans, received $5 million from the CIA in 1963 to help get Eduardo Frei elected president of Chile and to provide money for democratic labor leaders in Latin America.

A Jesuit friend of Father Vekemans confirmed that episode Wednesday in interviews with reporters but said he had no reason to believe the CIA had asked Father Vekemans to do anything he would not have ordinarily done for the church's social development projects.

The agency also supplied money for some foreign religious programs "used to manipulate events in other countries or to push a political line congenial to the CIA," Marks said.

Area churches schedule seventh outdoor services

Six area Churches of Christ and Christian Churches have combined forces again this year to sponsor the seventh annual "Open-Air Services" during the month of August at the Miami Trace High School stadium.

The services, being planned under the American bicentennial theme as the nation rounds into its 200th year, will be held each Sunday evening in August at 7:30 p.m. with special guests appearing at each service. In case of inclement weather, the services will be moved inside to the school auditorium.

The churches sponsoring the weekly church services are the Hickory Lane Church of Christ, the First Christian Church, the South Side Church of Christ, the Pleasant View Church of Christ, Jeffersonville Church of Christ and the New Holland Church of Christ.

The South Side Church of Christ will be in charge of the first service, which will be following an old-fashioned theme. Those attending are invited to dress in old-fashioned attire and several antique automobiles will be used to transport persons to the service.

Personnel from the local law enforcement agencies will be the special guests and the Rev. Charles Richmond of the South Side Church will deliver the message during the first service.

A spokesman for the church group expressed the clergymen's interest in sponsoring the open-air services and emphasized that any person of the community and surrounding areas are invited to attend. "We feel that giving Sunday evening back to God is an excellent way to mark the bicentennial of our nation," Keith Wooley of the Hickory Lane Church said.

Church observes centennial

The First Baptist Church of Jamestown, located approximately 20 miles west of Washington C.H., will be celebrating its 100th anniversary August 3.

The church was organized in 1875 when 24 persons met in the basement of the Jamestown Christian Church and named a layman as chairman and the first pastor.

By the middle of the first month, the group had been recognized as a Baptist church by congregations in Xenia, Centerville, Wilmington and communities in the Clinton Association of Baptist Churches.

One year after its organization, the group began its first women's organization and held its first Sunday School. The church sent a group to form a mission church at Pleasant Valley School in Fayette County, which later became the Pleasant Valley Baptist Church.

A lot was purchased in August, 1881 and in December, 1882, a church building was completed. When it was less than two years old, however, a tornado leveled the new building and its contents except for the church Bible, which is still owned by the church.

A new building was constructed on the same location but was sold in 1922 when the First Baptist Church purchased the Christian Church of Jamestown on N. Limestone Street, the present worship house.

Recently, the church purchased a 6½-acre plot just north of Jamestown to build a new church. The congregation has just voted to proceed with plans for building the new church.

The Rev. Edward Holland is currently serving as pastor.

Vary those vegetables

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

EVEN the best cooks fall down on the job when it comes to vegetables. Dinner after dinner, they prepare them the same way — boiled and seasoned with salt, pepper and butter. It's not inspired. Vegetable dishes should be varied, sparked with new seasonings, cooked in new ways. Here are suggestions on how to do it:

Homemakers have a regrettable tendency to think of celery as a vegetable best served raw or as a flavoring agent in soups. Yes, it is superb with apples, walnuts and mayonnaise in Waldorf Salad. Yes, it does beautiful things for chicken soup. But don't forget that celery is also a marvelous cooked vegetable. The Florida celery crop is abundant right now, so start cooking with celery. In this recipe, it has plus flavor and minus calories as a hot vegetable. We've called it "risotto" because, like the rice in the popular Italian dish, it absorbs the flavors of the herbs and spices as it simmers in chicken bouillon:

CELERY "RISOTTO"

2 tablespoons cooking oil
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup boiling water
1 chicken bouillon cube
1/4 teaspoon basil leaves, crumbled
1-16th teaspoon ground black pepper
Pinch saffron
9 cups finely chopped celery

In large saucepan or skillet, heat oil. Add onion; saute until tender, about 3 minutes. Add water, bouillon cube, basil, black pepper and saffron; stir to dissolve bouillon. Stir in celery; simmer, uncovered, until celery is crisp-tender, 12 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Season to taste with salt, if desired.

Makes 6 to 8 portions.

The Chinese angle on celery calls for cooking it with ginger, soy sauce and pea pods for:

CELERY ORIENTAL

1/4 cup butter or margarine
3 cup diagonally sliced celery
1 green pepper, sliced in strips
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 small clove garlic, crushed
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon salt
1-16th teaspoon ground black pepper
1 package (6 ounces) frozen Chinese pea pods (optional)

In a large skillet, melt butter. Add celery, green pepper and onion; saute for 5 minutes, stirring often. Add soy sauce, garlic, ginger, salt and black pepper. Cover and simmer for 7 minutes. Add pea pods; cook until vegetables are crisp-tender, about 5 minutes.

Makes 6 portions.

Celery and peas go together in a vegetable dish that's especially good served with fish:

GREEN MEDLEY

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon salad oil
4 cups diagonally sliced celery
1 package (10 ounces) frozen green peas, partly thawed
1/2 cup sliced stuffed green olives
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper

In a large skillet, heat butter and oil. Add celery; cook and stir for 5 minutes. Add peas; cook and stir 5 minutes longer. Blend in olives, salt and black pepper. Cook and stir 1 minute longer. Makes 6 portions.

A broiler-fryer; chicken is about eight weeks old and weights two to 3 1/2 pounds, as you buy it in the grocery store.

FORT BOISE TUNA-POTATO CAKES are light, luscious and crispy brown, an old-fashioned main dish made with canned tuna and instant mashed potatoes that have Idaho on the package label.

Main dishes from out west feature Idaho's instant mashed

Way out west, there's a state where the mountains reach for the sky, the salmon are lively in the rivers, and the potatoes come from the fields with a netted pattern on their russet skins. That probably gave you the clue to the name of the state because everyone knows that the famous Russet Burbank potatoes grow best in Idaho.

You can even get the taste combination of the mountain people's salmon and potatoes together in a batch of Salmon River-Potato Cakes, a main dish made with canned salmon and instant mashed potatoes that say Idaho on the label. This is a hearty old-fashioned treat that the whole family will enjoy, and it is definitely on the side of the budget, not against it.

We take instant mashed potatoes for granted today but their origin is relatively recent. It was back during World War II that the government asked Idaho potato people to develop a form of potatoes that was less bulky to transport yet would travel well and taste good. Well, they filled the first two requirements quite readily but it took many years of patient research and effort to produce the delicious-tasting instant mashed potato granules now available from the state where so much of the original testing and development began.

Another main dish that goes well with the season is savory Fort Boise Tuna-Potato Cakes. With their staple ingredients on hand, you can make a fine main course for your meal even if the weather prevents you from going to the store. These fine potato main dishes are nourishing, filling, and whole lot for the money.

SALMON RIVER-POTATO CAKES
Idaho instant mashed potatoes for 4 or 5 servings

1 can (1 pound) salmon, drained
2 eggs
2 tablespoons grated onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Prepare instant mashed potatoes according to package directions, reducing water by 1/2 cup and omitting butter. In a large bowl combine potatoes, salmon, eggs, onion, celery salt and pepper. Mix well. Shape mixture into 12 patties. Melt butter in large skillet. Add 4 salmon patties and cook until well browned on each side, turning once. Keep warm in 250 degree F. oven. Brown remaining patties, adding additional butter if necessary. YIELD: 6 servings.

FORT BOISE TUNA-POTATO CAKES
Idaho instant mashed potatoes for 4 or 5 servings

2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
2 eggs
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 can (3 or 4 ounces) chopped mushrooms, drained
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Prepare instant mashed potatoes according to package directions, reducing water by 1/2 cup and omitting butter. In a large bowl combine potatoes, tuna, eggs, onion, mushrooms, Worcestershire sauce and pepper. Mix well. Shape tuna mixture into 12 patties. Melt butter in large skillet. Add 4 tuna patties and cook until well browned on each side, turning once. Keep warm in 250 degree F. oven. Brown remaining patties, adding additional butter if necessary. YIELD: 6 servings.

Nurses agree flowers plants good 'medicine'

Flowers and plants aren't just pretty to look at, but have a psychological effect that encourages some patients to feel better, according to a national poll of nursing supervisors.

To many hospital patients, pretty flowers and green plants are a symbol that he or she is loved by the person sending the gift. Ill persons respond eagerly to tender, loving care, the nurses explain, and therefore many have an incentive to get better. For the same reason, they add, some patients take a turn for the better after a kind, reassuring word from a physician or nurse.

The views of 2,400 supervisors of nursing in the nation's hospitals and nursing homes were sought by Florists' Transworld Delivery (FTD), the intercity floral delivery network. Of the 650 responses, more than 90 per cent were in accord in believing that flowers actually have a therapeutic effect on many patients. More than 70 per cent of the nursing heads felt that plants symbolize "life" and "growth" to many patients who, as they watch plants develop and grow strong, are stimulated to do the same.

A few nurses thought the psychological impact of flowers and plants might work in reverse. Plants and flowers may die due to lack of care, they noted, possibly causing some patients to brood and become depressed. However, one respondent added that a patient may draw a psychological lesson that if good care helps flowers thrive, good care also will help him thrive.

In reply to other queries, most nurses said floral gifts should be delivered to patients in the afternoon, rather than in the morning. Relatives and friends also were urged by the nursing directors to send bouquets of brightly colored flowers, rather than muted tones.

Whether a flower arrangement or a plant, the gift should be small due to limited space in hospital rooms, it was pointed out.

The personal favorite flower of nurses is the rose, as it is of the general public.

Among the nurses' comments on the therapeutic benefit of flowers were the following:

- "fresh and lovely flowers are an incentive to be healthy - a token of love, hope and beauty."

- "flowers are a reminder that someone's thoughts and prayers are with the patient."

- "being part of something growing and feeling you're a part in the development and growth can give a feeling of satisfaction."

Club meets at Cedarhurst

Members of the Arts and Crafts Club spent a delightful afternoon with Mrs. John Rhoads at her Cedarhurst cottage for the July meeting.

Mrs. Gilbert Biddle presided at the brief business meeting when plans for the forthcoming meeting were discussed.

The program was presented by Mrs. Henry Best, who gave instructions for covering a box with aluminum foil using raised decorations and glazing of black enamel. The finished box has somewhat the appearance of antique pewter.

Mrs. Rhoads served an assortment of snacks at the close of the afternoon.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Bart Mahoney, Aug. 19 one week earlier than the usual time. Mrs. Mahoney and her assistant, Mrs. Ralph Child, have planned an afternoon of working with cornhusks with instruction in making flowers, wreaths and dolls.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has approved legislation designed to protect new homeowners from being stuck with construction bills left unpaid by contractors.

The so-called "mechanics lien bill" would require builders to pay all subcontractors, workers and suppliers before a home is sold, to guarantee that no liens are attached to the property.

WCH firm awarded contract

Greenfield firm sets expansion

GREENFIELD — Cal M. Hayward, general manager of the Hoover Chemical Products Co., plant in Greenfield, today announced the firm will expand its facilities with the addition of three 27,000 square foot warehouse buildings.

The new warehouse facilities will serve to smooth production schedules and improve customer service.

Ground has been broken for the construction of the three separate 9,000 square foot structures. The contract for construction has been awarded to the Great Oaks Construction Co. of Washington C. H.

Hayward explained by utilizing three structures instead of one, the company will minimize any fire hazards that might exist. As a further precaution, the buildings will be constructed of all metal materials.

Construction of the warehouses is expected to be completed in November. Hayward said the company expects the expansion to further strengthen its competitive position as a manufacturer of foam seating for the automobile industry.

He pointed out customer delivery requirements vary considerably from week to week. By scheduling uniform rates of production over long period of time and then storing excess production during periods of flow demands, the company will be able to handle customer demands during peak periods, a definite advantage to both the company and the customer, according to Hayward.

The investment required for the three additional warehouses gives the firm approximately 121,000 square feet of facilities.

The company, which launched operation in Greenfield in 1965, had major expansion projects in 1967 and 1969.

According to Hayward, the company's willingness to continue its program of investment and expansion in Greenfield "reflects its deep satisfaction with the community and faith in its future."

Hayward said the decision to add the warehouse facilities would not necessarily create more job openings, but it would tend to stabilize the present work force.

The company is currently operating on a reduced two-shift schedule due to the model changeover by auto manufacturers.

Normal operations are expected to resume as 1976 car model production begins.

McGovern won't run for President

WASHINGTON (AP) — After consulting with his top 1972 advisers and close friends, Sen. George McGovern says he is sticking with his earlier decision against making another bid for the presidency in 1976.

"I don't find any reason to reconsider my decision of a year ago," the 1972 Democratic nominee said in an interview.

McGovern sent a letter to some 35 advisers and friends asking what course he should follow in 1976, including the possibility of being an active presidential candidate, supporting another hopeful or concentrating on issues and his work in the Senate.

"We had been receiving inquiries whether I wouldn't reconsider and take another look at it," he said, adding that the responses "fortified my own decision."

CALL THAT A TRACTOR? — With wheels spinning and dirt flying this modified "tractor" attempts to pull a weighted sled farther than the other competitors during the tractor pull Thursday night at the Fayette County Fair. A capacity crowd watched the event as the tractors, some sporting two engines, strained against the heavy load. The roar of the modified monsters could be heard several blocks from the Fairground.

Officials pleased with comments received

Over 2,500 persons attend open house at Armco plant

The Armco Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant in Washington C. H. hosted over 2,500 persons through the facility on U.S. 35-S during a two-day open house Wednesday and Thursday in celebration of the company's 75th anniversary.

Leo B. Edwards, plant personnel supervisor who served as coordinator for the anniversary project at the Washington C. H. plant, said although the turnout was not as large as had been expected, plant officials were well-pleased with the comments from those who attended and the overall performance of the open house.

Edwards cited the coinciding Fayette County Fair and the fact the open house was held at only one time from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. both days as deterrents to the anticipated attendance figures.

"But we were pleased with the results," he said. "We received excellent comments from those who attended and many appeared to be enlightened by what they saw."

The main feature of the open house was a 15-minute, multi-media presentation in an air conditioned, 255-seat geodesic-like dome which briefed the history of the company, illustrated its production lines and explained the company's contributions to not only the local communities but to the areas it serves around the globe.

Edwards said several of the visitors in the plant were surprised to find the facility so large and the great diversification of the company's products.

"We have 12 acres under roof at the Washington C. H. plant and it's quite a long walk," Edwards explained. "You just don't realize how big the plant is by looking from the highway."

He added the Armco Steel Corp. has expanded its production lines during its 75 years to include not only steel for which it is most noted, but also plastics, luggage, snowmobiles, other recreational vehicles and energy production equipment.

The Armco Steel Corp. is now the nation's third largest steel company in terms of total sales and earnings and the 418 employees of the Washington C. H. firm produced a record 100,000 tons of pre-engineered steel buildings last year.

Visitors during the open house were given tours to all departments of the plant, which has been manufacturing pre-engineered steel buildings locally since 1950, and each received a Scotch pine seedling as part of the company's anniversary theme of environmental improvement.

Edwards said all seedlings not distributed at the open house will be planted in a greenbelt in the company-owned, 100-acre Armco Park Highland on Thomas Road in Highland County.

Other seedlings are being used to landscape open areas of Armco Steel Corp. locations, which now include facilities in 20 different countries, and for screening many of the plants in heavily-populated areas from occupants of surrounding properties and highways.

Seven persons who traveled through the Washington C. H. plant were drawn to receive prizes during the open house celebration, Edwards added. Selected were Richard Badgley of Greenfield, Arthur W. Deakayne of Washington C. H., Mrs. Gerald Butcher of Bloomingburg, Teresa Oberschlake of Middletown, and Janelle Pyle, Pam Yarger and Patti Zinn, all of Washington C. H.

School board purchases new equipment at meet

Personnel matters and purchases of equipment were presented to the Washington C.H. Board of Education at a special session Friday morning.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Peggy Tunick, school psychologist, and hired David Johnson, a recent graduate of the University of Cincinnati to fill the position.

Purchase of a van for the elementary lunch program was approved. The vehicle will be obtained from Meriweather Motors, the only bidder, and will carry foods from the Washington C.H. Middle School building to the various elementary schools.

Pennington Bread and American Bakeries, Cincinnati, submitted bids for supply the schools with baked goods. Pennington was the low bidder and received the contract.

Appliances for the Middle School food lab were bid by three firms, and Yeoman's Radio and Television submitted the low bid of $3,675.

Four teachers were approved for employment. They are John Scaggs, who will teach social studies and physical education at the high school; Miss Holly Howard, Middle School English teacher; Miss Cynthia Carper, girls physical education and athletics at the high school; and Mrs. Vivian Houghton, typing and geography at the Middle School. Scaggs will also serve as head baseball coach.

Ohio attorney general outlines revised drug bill in stop here

By GEORGE MALEK

"The purpose of the bill is to crack down on the pusher and to help the user," said Ohio Attorney General William J. Brown.

The reference is to a revised drug bill which Brown has promoted for the past two years. While in Washington C.H. Thursday, the attorney general reported that the measure had just been approved by an 89-6 margin in the senate and is likely to be approved in the Ohio House of Representatives.

The heart of the legislation is the inclusion of mandatory prison terms for those convicted of selling drugs. "Under this law, the pusher will know that if he is convicted, he is going to jail," he said. "He will not get probation, shock probation after 30 days or an early parole."

The minimum jail term would be determined by the "viciousness" of the drug sold, he continued. Sale of barbiturates or amphetamines would carry a two-year minimum prison term while sale of heroin would result in at least a four-year imprisonment.

"It is time we stopped listening to how the criminal was forced into his way of life because his parents are divorced or because they beat him when he was a child," he stated. "If you want to sell drugs, you're going to jail for a long time, it's as simple as that," he stressed.

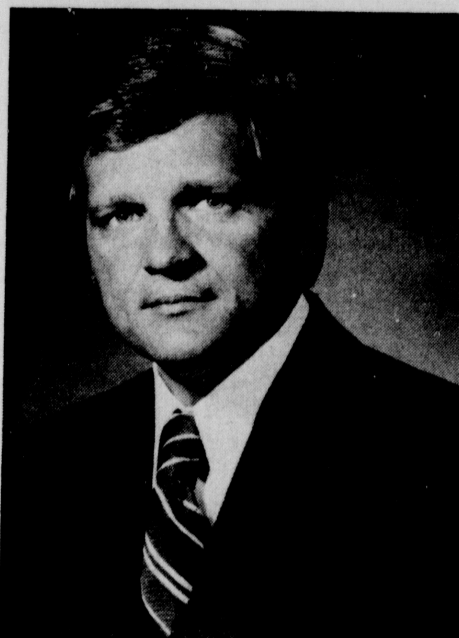

On the other hand, the penalties for the user have been reduced. "First offenders will face no jail time at all if they are willing to enter a state rehabilitation program," the attorney general said. He added that possession of marijuana carries only a $100 fine.

Another change is the definition of "pusher." Under the present Ohio law, giving one marijuana cigarette to a friend is considered a "sale." Distributing any amount of a drug with or without getting paid for it is termed selling. The pending legislation requires that the sale be an amount equal to at least a three-day supply of a drug.

Although the amount varies from drug to drug, the guidelines is what the attorney general's office determined is approximately a three-day supply. For amounts less than that, the mandatory jail term clause does not apply. In the case of marijuana, the sale must be of at least a half-pound before the mandatory sentence comes into effect.

To assist law-enforcement agencies, the bill also authorizes the creation of a drug control board. The board would be responsible for ranking all drugs according to their potency. Drugs which are not now classified would be tested for the amount of harmful ingredients contained within them and immediately placed in one of five potency levels.

An advanced training school for law enforcement officers is nearing completion, he said. The facility, located in London, is expected to be ready for operation in November. As many as 110 officers can enroll in each training session. New techniques and changes in law will be stressed. Brown, who has promoted the facility for several years, said it is the first advanced training site in the state.

Marijuana has been removed from the narcotic drug list because of the low level of harmful effect.

When asked whether there was any move to legalize marijuana because of this same lack of harmful effect, Brown said definitely not. "There has not been enough research to determine if it is really dangerous," he added.

Although he admitted that many drugs have been placed on the shelves of drug stores with much less testing than marijuana has received over the last decade, he maintained that even more testing is necessary.

"Why should we legalize marijuana when alcoholism is already America's greatest drug problem?" Brown asked.

Brown feels there is some justification for striking from the books all crimes without victims. These include fornication, prostitution, homosexuality and even sexual practices between married couples.

He spoke in depth only about prostitution, and said that legalization was a viable prospect — with sufficient regulation. Only with a very strong state licensing program would legalization of prostitution be reasonable.

While legalization would take the profit from organized crime and free hundreds of police officers across the state for other duty, the attorney general said strict licensing would have to be incorporated in such a measure to check the spread of venereal disease.

"Crimes without victims are rather outmoded," he said, "but they are difficult to define. If no one is injured other than the 'criminals,' the value of the law is questionable, but determining whether or not society is the victim is not always easy," he concluded.

Brown also discussed shield laws briefly. He said he was in favor of a complete shield law, protecting news reporters from disclosing their sources of information under any circumstances. He added, however, that a professional association of newsmen should be established to oversee its own members. He suggests that the association operated in a manner similar to the Ohio Bar Association where ethical questions are brought before the individual's peers.

Following dinner with local Democrats Robert Mace, Richard Kimmet and Milbourne Barney, Brown visited the Fayette County Fair.

After stopping at the Democratic Party booth in the Mahan Building, Brown visited his own display on law enforcement. The booth depicts scenes in which persons are confronted by officers.

They may be criminals reaching for a gun, or John Doe reaching for his identification. In either case the officer must make a split-second decision which could cost him his life or someone else their life if he is wrong. The purpose of the film is to acquaint the public with the difficulties the officer faces daily.

Brown's last stop was the tractor-pull at the grandstand. He spoke briefly prior to the event, and awarded the first trophy.

A Missouri man was fined Thursday in Washington C. H. Municipal Court on a charge of no operator's license.

In two other traffic cases aired Thursday, Susan E. Whetro, 22, Fostoria, forfeited $35 on a charge of having an unsafe vehicle, and Dennis C. Rodgers, 28, of 328 E. Court St., forfeited $25 for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

UC hurt by veto of funding

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Without the special $10 million subsidy from the Ohio legislature, the University of Cincinnati's switch to full state affiliation may be in jeopardy, school officials said Thursday.

The doubts were expressed in the wake of Wednesday's unsuccessful attempt by the Ohio House of Representatives to override Gov. James A. Rhodes' veto of the $10 million bonus to help the switch from city to state ownership.

"To prepare a budget in the absence of the $10 million will require some very difficult decisions," said James Eden, vice president for finance and management.

Possible actions if the $10 million is not approved could include tuition increases, a freeze on employee raises and new hiring and closing some campus facilities, according to another university official.

The school continues to operate in "limbo" pending the outcome of efforts to restore the $10 million, Eden said.

Though efforts are under way in the legislature to restore the vetoed funds, State Sen. William F. Bowen, D-9, said "it is very likely" the Senate will refuse to allocate the money.

"That money is back in the bag," said Bowen, who represents part of Cincinnati. "And there are a lot of senators with pet programs."

Cincinnati voters must pass a charter amendment to release the school from its municipal affiliation and officials think the subsidy cut may weaken those chances.

Drug abuse bill to face action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Senate is expected to vote next week on a House-approved bill revising Ohio's drug laws, including lighter penalties for possessing small amounts of marijuana and hashish.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, putting hashish, a concentrated derivative from the same plant as marijuana, into the same category, recommended passage 9-0 Thursday.

Leaders reportedly have given assurances to Atty. Gen. William J. Brown that it will be acted upon by the Senate before the legislature's expected summer adjournment Aug. 1. Brown sent the bill to the legislature early this year.

House sponsors, apprised of an extensive series of amendments by the Senate committee, lauded the panel's work and said they could accept it without change.

Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-34 Dayton, chairman of a House subcommittee that considered the bill for about three months, said "it's a good bill. I would recommend it as is." He said he would like to see it enacted promptly "so we can give it a couple of years to see how it works."

The Senate committee, headed by Sen. David L. Headley, D-28 Barberton removed hashish from the bill's list of more dangerous drugs and put it into the same category with marijuana.

However, hashish is said to be about 20 times stronger than marijuana, and the penalties were adjusted accordingly.

For example, the bill provides that possession of 100 grams or less of marijuana is a minor misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $100. The same penalty would apply to hashish, except that the amount would have to be five grams (about one-sixth of an ounce) or less.

Possession of more than 100 grams of marijuana or more than five grams of hashish would be treated as a fourth degree misdemeanor punishable by a $250 fine and up to 30 days in jail.

As the bill left the House, possession of hashish in any amount was a fourth degree felony and could result in a prison term of up to five years.

Other changes the Senate committee made in the House version included a lessening of mandated, nonprobational prison terms for serious offenders.

'Ivory curtain' descending for India's wealthy group?

The hungry masses don't seem concerned about India's tilt toward totalitarian government, but many in India's educated classes believe an "ivory curtain" is descending to cut them off from each other and the outside world.

"Everyone is petrified. We are becoming a police state," commented a British-educated New Delhi businesswoman, three weeks after Prime Minister Indira Gandhi proclaimed a state of emergency and assumed near-dictatorial powers.

The businesswoman and others interviewed in major Indian cities in the past three weeks cited harsh press censorship, intensified police surveillance and denial of basic rights of assembly and political criticism to back up their fears that freewheeling democracy is dead in India.

"She is instituting a cult of personality, just like Chairman Mao," said an aging widow of an Indian diplomat as she watched the government announcements interrupt "I Love Lucy," her favorite program on India TV.

Mrs. Gandhi's picture is not on billboards in New Delhi, but slogans praising her emergency rule are beginning to take the place of beer ads.

Mrs. Gandhi's critics are drawn not only from the ranks of opposition parties but also from the business and intellectual communities which saw traditional processes of law and order swept away in a few days.

"No one is safe from arrest today," said the descendant of a maharaja who runs a diamond business. "Incurring the displeasure of Mrs. Gandhi means ruin."

Sponge rubber plant force hit by layoffs after blast

SHELTON, Conn. (AP) — Henry Baer is one of 500 some people who depended on Sponge Rubber Products Co. for a living.

Like the rest Baer, the plant's general manager, is waiting for word about the future of the plant, ripped by explosions March 1 in the biggest arson case in FBI's history.

The financially-plagued company lost its largest Connecticut plant, in Shelton, when the dynamite explosions and fire destroyed it, resulting in $10 million damage.

Ten men were charged in federal indictments with arson and conspiracy, including Charles D. Moeller of Crider'sville, Ohio. He is president of Sponge Rubber's parent firm, Grand Sheet Metal Products Co. of Melrose Park, Ill.

About 300 workers lost their jobs after the disaster.

An estimated 540 others from the remaining plants were issued their final pay checks Monday when they were laid off indefinitely. Some did not find out about the shutdown until they showed up for work. Others had read about plans to close in the newspapers over the weekend.

The layoffs didn't spell financial disaster for this section of Naugatuck Valley, already hit by high unemployment because of failing industry. But they did boost the percentage of jobless to 16.1, according to the state Labor Department. That's the highest for any market in the state.

The department says there is a work force of 40,000 in Ansonia, Derby, Oxford, Seymour and Shelton.

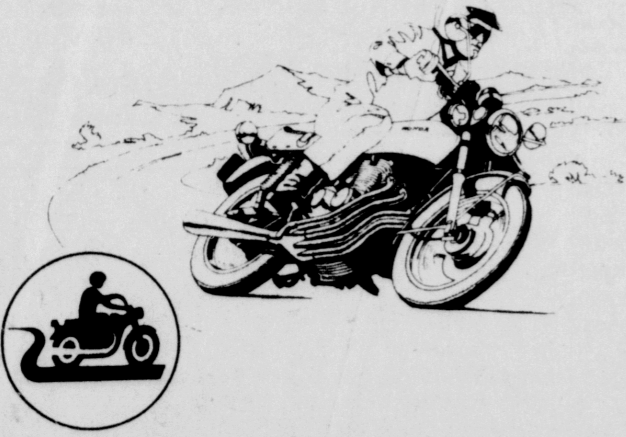

As of Wednesday, 385 of Sponge Rubber's recent unemployed had applied for jobless benefits at the Ansonia office. Perhaps 35 to 40 others had filed in the New Haven and Bridgeport offices, the Labor Department said.
